SAYS PACT WILL LEAD TO WAR

Senator Lodge Likens League of Nations to Holy Alliance and Defends Monroe Doctrine

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Reiterating his assertion that under the League of Nations America would sacrifice her sovereignty in important respects, become involved "almost without limit" in the affairs of other nations, and yielded up policies and rights she always has maintained, Senator Lodge said in the Senate today that he had little fear that it would "break the heart of the world" if the League were not accepted just as it stands.

Senator Lodge declared that, taken altogether, the provisions in the League covenant for war presented what in his mind was the gravest objection to the League in its present form.

Senator Lodge said in part:

Mr. President: In the essays of Elia, one of the most delightful is entitled "Popular Fallacies." There is one very popular fallacy, however, which Lamb did not include in his list, and that is the common saying that history repeats itself.

Universal negatives are always dangerous, but if there is anything that is fairly certain, it is that history never exactly repeats itself. Popular fallacies, nevertheless, generally have some basis, and this saying springs from the undoubted truth that mankind from generation to generation is constantly repeating itself.

We have an excellent illustration of this fact in the proposed experiment now before us, of making arrangements to secure the permanent peace of the world. To assure the peace of the world by a combination of the nations is no new idea. Leaving out the leagues of antiquity and of me-

Secretary Baker Says Demobilization Will Be Effected Late in October

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 12.—Actual demobilization of the American army, in so far as the combatant troops are concerned, will be preticially complete by the last of October, Secretary of War Baker announced today.

The annulling of war time prohibition, designed only to last through the period of demobilization, will, therefore, be entirely within the province of President Wilson before November 1, it was thought among officials here.

This is the most definite statement that has yet come from the Secretary of War as to when demobilization may be expected.

Details as to care and disposition of army property and permanent records will continue to require the time and work of many officers and men, Secretary Baker said.

Home headquarters of the following combatant divisions were announced by the secretary as follows:

First Division—Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.

Second Division—Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas.

Third Division—Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark.

Fourth Division—Camp Dodge, Des Moines, Iowa.

Fifth Division—Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga.

Sixth Division—Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.

Seventh Division—Camp Funston, Fort Riley, Kan.

CHICAGO FEELS EFFECT OF DRIVE ON PRICES

Chicago, Aug. 12.—First effects of the nation's fight against the high cost of living have been felt here. The first blow against profiteers was struck when an order was issued setting twelve cents as a fair price for a pound of sugar, and the second blow was the sale of sixty thousand cans of vegetables, the first Chicago sale of government foods, at two loop department stores. Those who purchased the goods saved eight cents on each can, or about eighty per cent.

Prices asked for fruits and produce along "commission row" went tumbling, potatoes leading the downward trend. They fell from 50 cents to a dollar per hundred pounds. Arrival of many peaches from Southern and Western States caused a drop in prices.

WORLD TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF CARNEGIE

> "Here lies a man who knew how to enlist in his service better men than himself." — Carnegie's suggestion for an epitaph for his own tomb.

Lenox, Aug. 12.—Along the dusty road which leads up to the private avenue, at the end of which stands Shadow Brook, the mansion in which Andrew Carnegie spent his last days, a bronzed and aged man wended his way this morning.

It was Mark Bourne, piscatorial expert and friend of the dead iron master. Bourne was bound to the great mansion to add his tribute to those that have come from the very ends of the earth, following the announcement that the "Laird o' Skibo" had passed on.

It was Bourne, the great man's last companion on an excursion into the outer world. It was Bourne who had led him to Lake Mahkeenac and to the pool wherein lurked the choicest bass. And it was Bourne of all those

SHOPMEN READY TO RETURN

Reports Show Peace Is Near, Despite Denial by Leaders

Reports from various parts of New England today indicated that the railroad shopmen's strike was breaking up, despite vigorous denials on the part of union officials.

In Manchester, and Nashua, N. H., forty-eight men returned to work today, while in Lawrence, Lowell, New Haven and Billerica the strikers either voted to resume their old jobs or indicated their readiness to do so.

Eighteen striking shopmen at the Boston & Albany shops in Worcester returned to work at noon today. The shopmen of the N. Y., N. H. & H. and the Boston & Maine roads did not return to work but said they would probably go back tomorrow.

The local passenger agent of the Boston & Maine at Lawrence declared that he expected the shopmen to return tomorrow with an early settlement of the strike.

At New Haven two thousand shopmen voted to return to work, it is reported, with the declaration that the strike was ill-advised. It is believed that by Monday all the men of the New Haven system who went out will be back at work.

Reports from the 1,600 strikers in the Boston & Maine shops at Billerica indicate that the men are anxious to return to work, but are holding back because they do not want to be the first to quit the strikers' ranks. The men generally set Friday for their return to work.

LEADERS SILENT.

Union officials at the Quincy House headquarters denied that there had been any break in the strikers' ranks at Manchester and Nashua. They persisted in their policy of silence today and refused to make public any of the strike votes sent them from outside locals.

From Lowell, the American learned that the strike sentiment there today for returning to work was so general that it indicated the vote taken yesterday was overwhelmingly in favor of returning to work.

Strike leaders withheld all information of Boston & Maine votes and explained that no vote would be made public until after returns had been received from the Boston & Albany and New Haven men.

In spite of the action of the New Hampshire strikers and the reports that men in other centres would follow suit, local leaders stated positively today that there was no possibility

Baby Carriage Is Army Food Truck

Just One Incident of Many Unusual Incidents Today When the New Food Sale Opened.

In the rush to buy army food today at the various distributing stations, eager purchasers were not particular about the kind of trucks they commandeered to cart away the precious goods. In the picture are Mrs. Anna Swain of Harvard street, Dorchester, and Florence Graham. The baby carriage, in this case, proved quite handy.

Postmen Will Take Grocery Orders Next Monday

Give your grocery order to the postman next Monday. The prices will be those of all army food stores announced in the American plus a special reduced parcel post charge which the government has established for these shipments. Any quantity up to 125 pounds may be ordered.

Authority for the parcel post system of government food reached Boston today. It provides that the postman is to receive orders and money from patrons along his route and turn them oer to the postmaster, who will submit them to the surplus stores officer at the army supply base. After that the shipment will be entirely in the hands of the army. The individual's order will be made up, packed and addressed without additional charge and the proper amount of stamps placed on before it is sent from the army supply base.

Postoffice officials are preparing for an enormous increase in parcel post business when the army food sales begin next week. Acting Postmaster Hurley has requested many employes who planned to go on vacations the last two weeks of August to remain at their posts until the emergency has passed. He has appeal to the public spirit of

WILSON REVIEWS MARINES AT CAPITOL

Washington, Aug. 12.—Washington today told it to the marines. Fifty thousand Washingtonians, lined along both sides of Pennsylvania avenue, in lusty cheers, told 8,000 "Devildogs" of the Fifth and Sixth Regiments of Marines and the Sixth Machine Gun Battalion of the famous Second Division that the national capital as representative of the nation was proud of them. In the reviewing stand with President Wilson was Major-General Barnett, commandant of the Marine Corps; Major-General Lejeune, who commanded the Second Division; Secretary of War Baker, Chief of Staff General March, Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt, and other notables.

SAY POLICE FAVORED FRIENDS

General Public Barred at Front Doors, While Others Got in at Back Door to Buy Army Food

Sale of army canned goods will be resumed Thursday at noon, instead of tomorrow, at the same distribution stations. The sale will continue daily, beginning at 10 in the morning on succeeding days.

Charging that favoritism and mismanagement were shown in the sale of army canned goods today, Dorchester and Roxbury residents are demanding that at future sales everybody be given a "square deal."

It is alleged that police on duty at the distribution centres used their positions to favor friends, who were allowed in rear doors, while the general public was forced to stand in line.

It is further charged that certain favored purchasers were allowed to buy in large lots, while housewives who waited for hours were turned away empty-handed.

The four carloads placed on sale today were bought up shortly after noon, and hundreds of dissatisfied women declared that they were not given a fair chance to profit by the sale. The news that ten more carloads would go on sale tomorrow did something to allay their discontent.

ERROR CAUSES CONFUSION.

At least three places were listed as distribution centres through error, and this mistake caused hundreds of women to waste half the morning outside empty buildings, and finally be disappointed altogether.

Members of the Women's Committee for Public Service, who handled the distribution, deny the reports, particularly that regarding the sale of goods in large lots to persons with "pull."

They maintain that while there was some confusion and delay, everybody was treated alike. Regarding the criticism of the police, the women were unable to make any statement, but were inclined to doubt it smerit.

Miss Mary Barr, who will order ten carloads for sale some time tomorrow, predicted that the sale would be conducted more smoothly than on the of the strike being ended before Saturday.

According to the local leaders, delegates from the striking locals on all three leading railroads, agreed at a closed meeting at the Quincy House to act in concert. Each local will take a vote of its membership and forward the result to strike headquarters here. As some of the New Haven meetings will not be held until Thursday, and the final result will not be known here until Friday, the leaders say that no order calling the strike off could go into effect before the next morning, Saturday. The strikers at New Haven, it is announced, have already voted to return to work as soon as the leaders gave the word.

FREIGHT STILL PILING UP.

With shipments piling up hourly in the factories, their coal and raw material supplies being depleted rapidly, manufacturers are facing a serious situation. As a result of the freight embargo, the New Haven has laid off several hundred freight handlers.

The coal situation is causing much uneasiness. The New Haven is transporting no coal except such as it needs to keep its engines and power houses going. The Boston & Albany has big stocks on hand in its pockets at Beacon Park, West Springfield, Riverside, Worcester, Palmer and Springfield and will probably experience no hardship in this respect.

Apprehension of a food famine as a result of the strike has lessened. Food shipments have been kept at normal and the railroads believe that in almost any extremity to which the strike is likely to reduce them they can keep adequate supplies moving.

According to the present plans of the strikers, the New Haven men will hold a big meeting at New Haven Thursday morning, at which the vote on that system will be counted.

Boston delegates of the men on the New Haven will be present at that meeting and will return Thursday night to attend a meeting Friday morning at the Quincy House of the executive board of the shopmen of the Boston & Maine and the Boston & Albany, at which the total votes of the men of those roads will be counted.

If it is then found that the majority have voted to call the strike off, instructions will be issued for the men to return to work on Saturday morning.

SENTIMENT IS DIVIDED.

According to some of the leaders, the feeling seems about equally divided here. They feel, however, that when the outside districts are heard from they will bring a majority in favor of returning to work.

The vote at Billerica and Concord, N. H., where the two largest shops of the B. & M. are located, was by secret ballot, and it is not expected that the result will reach the officers in this city before tomorrow. Other sections of the system, where the men will vote tomorrow, and during the next couple of days, it was said, are so situated that it will take some time for the local officers to get the results to this city.

Officers who addressed the men at Lowell and Concord stated that they could not understand the attitude of the men at the meetings. There was absolutely no disorder of any kind nor were the speakers interrupted by men who did not agree with their remarks.

WITHHOLD VOTING RESULT.

While many believe that the vote will be in favor of a resumption of work, they say that they will not be surprised if it goes the other way.

More than 800 members of the Brotherhood of Railway Carmen, employed on the Boston & Maine, held a meeting in the West End. No announcement as to the action taken was made, but members who left the hall stated that the sentiment was in favor of staying on strike.

The members of the unions affiliated with the Terminal Division Federated Crafts, Boston & Maine, who met at 691 Washington street, gave out no information as to what happened at their meeting. The ballots were taken in charge after the meeting and will be counted today.

WOMAN IN COURT ON CHARGE OF STORE THEFT

Case Continued to Allow Sanity Test of Army Officer's Wife

Mrs. Jane C. Rogers of Winthrop, wife of a second lieutenant in the army, charged with several thefts from Shreve, Crump & Lowe and the E. T. Slattery Company, appeared before Judge Parmenter in the Municipal Court today. After a conference at the bench between her attorney and Inspector Harry Pierce, a continuance until Thursday was granted to allow her to be examined by an alienist. She was held in $500.

According to the police, Mrs. Rogers obtained a brooch valued at $48, a string of beads worth $52 and a silver tray valued at $98 from the jewelry firm on three consecutive days last month, using the charge account of Mrs. E. W. LaCroix of Ocean street, Lynn. She was also alleged to have obtained $80.17 worth of clothing at the E. T. Slattery Company store by the same methods.

She was arrested yesterday by Inspectors Pierce, Finn and Flaherty at the Shreve, Crump & Lowe store while she was alleged to have been making another fraudulent purchase.

MAIL CARRIER RESCUES CHILD IN AUTO PATH

Edward J. Connery, a sub-letter carrier at the Field's Corner station, was a real hero on Leroy street, Dorchester, today. Connery, weighted down with mail matter, jumped into the street and saved the child from harm.

$30 SHOE TALK 'FOOLISH,' SAYS ENDICOTT

Declares No One Will Gain Anything by Buying Ahead of One's Wants

"I would like to emphasize the fact that while there is nothing in sight that would lead us to hope for low prices of shoes, there is nothing in sight that would lead us to believe that any such extravagant prices would ever prevail in this country as have been so freely phophesied. I do not believe the future advance will amount to enough to make it advantageous for any consumer to buy ahead of his or her wants."

Thus Henry B. Endicott outlined to the American today the present state and the probable future of the shoe situation. He decried the recent prophecies that shoes of ordinary grades would go to $25 and $30 a pair, saying:

"When you take the combination of high-priced raw materials, and high-priced labor, it means just one thing—high-priced shoes. But this doesn't of necessity mean unreasonably high-priced shoes, unless the consuming public, as they do in many instances, continue to demand the most expensive patterned shoe made from the most expensive skin.

"I don't see where we can expect low-priced shoes, but I have seen some absolutely foolish statements in print that shoes selling at $2.50 before the war are now selling at $7, and would undoubtedly go to $25 or $30 a pair.

"There is absolutely no danger of any such condition prevailing.

STATEMENT MISLEADING.

"The whole statement is wrong and misleading. Shoes that sold at wholesale before the war at $2.50 may sell for $3.50 or possibly $4 today, and, in my judgment, while they may go a little higher, 25 or 50 cents is the outside limit.

"There may be retail shoe stores where they charge from $12 to $20, but the person who goes to a store of that class pays for in large part the overhead expenses and the expensive fittings.

"My advice to the man or woman who feels the need of economizing is that they patronize stores that do not have to pay interest on mahogany furniture and luxurious fittings.

"It's a fact, of course, that a custom shoemaker that sold his special shoes for $15 a pair before the war may ask $25 today for the same article, but such shoes are a luxury, and a person who indulges in such a luxury ought to pay for it. A man that was in the habit of paying $15 for a custom pair of shoes before the war can go to almost any store in the North or West End of Boston and probably any store in the South End, and get a shoe for $6 or $8 that that will answer the purpose very nearly, if not quite, as well.

"If a woman insists on having a shoe nine or ten inches high, made from the most expensive colored kid, of which there is a very limited amount to be had at almost any price, she must pay the price.

"I am inclined to think that an investigation will show that the retailers are getting more profit than formerly—much more, and will undoubtedly show many cases where overhead expenses are exorbitant and needless, and if the coming investigation can correct this extravagance, it will be a splendid piece of work, but it is a most fortunate thing for this country that retailers are making more profit than formerly.

"I think it's a conservative statement to make that if the shoe retailers of this country had been obliged to liquidate their business at any time during the five-year period before the war, 30 per cent. of them at least could not have paid 100 cents on the dollar.

"I noticed a sign in a retail shoe store window yesterday, which said: 'Buy Now—Shoes Will Be Higher.' There is no reason on earth why any man or woman should buy a pair of shoes now unless they actually need them.

WHY LEATHER IS HIGH.

"I notice the packers, as usual, are accused of doing their share toward creating higher prices. Now the packers are shrewd, hard-headed business men, and I feel quite sure would not be averse to making an extra profit. I hold no brief for the packers, but when one realizes that the hides and skins that the packers control is a small proportion (probably not one-tenth) of the hides and skins that are used in the manufacture of shoes in this country, and that hides and skins come here from almost every country on the face of the earth, I think to find the cause one would have to go back further than the packers, even in this country.

"Ask a farmer what he is getting for his cow hide or his calf skin, compared to a year or two years ago. He is getting as much today for the hide or skin as he got for the whole animal a few years ago, yet if he is accused of profiteering his defence would be the high cost of feeding and taking care of these animals and would declare high-cost labor and high-cost material the causes creating this high-cost cattle raising. So the packer would pass it to the farmer, and the farmer would pass it down the line.

"I think we not only have to consider these causes, but we have to consider that in other countries outside of our own, the herds of the world have been greatly depleted. I believe the herds of England and France alone have been depleted some 30,000,000. Of course, those of Germany, Austria and the Balkan States must be tremendously reduced. We all know that Russia produced more calfskins than any other country and these animals have been killed in tremendous quantities to feed the starving people, and the skins, where they haven't been eaten, have been allowed to rot.

CONDITIONS CHANGED.

"Now, there was a tremendous use of leather all during the actual war and the wastage was beyond comprehension. There was only one thing which kept the prices of hides and leather and shoes from soaring, and that was that the central powers could not, of course, purchase hides in the outside countries; therefore, we not only had all the hides of this country without any foreign competition, and we not only had the hides from foreign countries that we usually had without any foreign competition, but we had virtually all the hides and skins come to this country that had usually gone to these central powers.

"My own concern bought hides during the war that we had never seen or heard of before. Of course, this extra supply kept prices on a reasonable basis, even with the increased demand for leather products. Now hide conditions have changed in all countries. The demand has been larger than the supply. South America is our largest hide-producing country, and many times in that country foreign buyers have outbid our buyers fifteen and twenty, where we can expect low-priced shoes."

Cost of Taxis Cut by New Line of Independents

Headquarters of the new Boston Independent Taxi Association, which has been organized to still further take the tax out of taxi, will be opened at No. 14 Park square this week.

The new independent organization is out to free the restricted local cab and taxi stands from private control and place all public cab stands at the disposal of the several companies without discrimination.

An initial "drop" fee of 20 cents will be charged by the new company in place of the 25 and 40 cents "initial charge" of existing old-line companies.

At a meeting of the new organization, held at No. 728 Washington street, it was voted to open headquarters and telephone stations within a week, and the following officers were elected to serve one year: President, Alexander Bannwart; vice-president, Reginald J. Cooper; treasurer, Robert Lamb; secretary, Everett V. Whittington.

DEDHAM EXPECTS $4.20 TAX INCREASE

Skipper's Ignorance of Port Regulations Lands Craft on Rocks

Ignorance of port regulations and Boston harbor channels combined to pile up the Brazilian steamship Iguassu on the rocks off Castle Island early today.

The vessel was floated at high tide by two tugs and sent back to quarantine, which her commander had ignored. Later the steamship took on a pilot and made her way to the Mystic docks to unload a cargo of china clay from Fowey, England.

The Iguassu, formerly the German steamship Santa Rosa, was seized by Brazil and loaned to the French. In the service of the France-Canada line, the vessel reached the entrance to Boston harbor late last night.

Ignorant of the regulations which prohibit foreign vessels from entering the port after sunset, the steamship proceeded up the harbor, there being a good light furnished by the moon. The commander stopped not for pilot and stopped not for quarantine, but he did stop for the rocks off Castle Island.

BOYS' BANK IN WOODS: ALL GET INTO COURT

After robbing a bank of $100 in a gasoline station on Blue Hill avenue, Dorchester, Lawton, Benjamin and James Tilley, all of Morton street, that district, hid the money under a stone in the woods nearby, it was charged, and every time they wanted to go to the movies or buy candies and ice cream the stone had to be tipped over. Patrolman William Balch of the Mattapan police station had them in the Juvenile session of the Dorchester Court today on the charge of delinquency. They were found guilty, Lawton being held in $200 and Benjamin and James in $200.

FRIENDLESS, GLAD TO FIND HOME IN JAIL

Saying that as he had no friends around here, and might just as well be in jail as anywhere, Leslie Berkie, twenty-six, of Cleveland, O., was happy to accept a sentence of a month in the House of Correction in Waltham Court today. He pleaded guilty to the larceny of a bicycle belonging to Orville Jones. The police claim that last Saturday, after getting a job at the Academy of Assumption in Wellesley, Berkie stole jewelry belonging to the students.

HOOD'S SERVICE

Returned to Farmers

$7,590,000

THERE is not sufficient milk produced in the entire State of Massachusetts to supply the daily requirements of Greater Boston alone, and upon the milk distributor devolves the problem of collecting, protecting and delivering this most important food.

And it is a problem,—for the milk and cream bought by H. P. Hood & Sons in the year 1918 would require a train load of refrigerator cars over 50 miles long to carry it, and would take a tank as big as the Little Building to contain it.

The money paid to the farmers for merchandise (milk, cream, etc.) amounted to $7,590,000.

In this same year was paid out for

Labor	$1,764,000
To railroads for transportation	593,000
Teams and trucks	288,000
Supplies	275,000
Fuel	60,000
Insurance	57,000

While handling this great volume of milk—surrounding it with all the scientific safeguards which protect the health of your family—we point with pride to the record without equal, in 73 years of continuous service not a case of disease has been traced to Hood's Milk.

ASTOR AND SCHIFF TO PROVE 'ANGELS' FOR THE STRIKING CHORUS?

PLAN FOR ACTORS' FUND

Co-operative Performances Likely; Big Suit Filed by Managers

By International News Service.

New York, Aug. 12.—The spotlight in the actors' strike shifted suddenly today and found Vincent Astor, New York's youngest multi-millionaire, blinking and quite evidently embarrassed at his unexpected injection into the theatrical world, standing right in the centre of the stage.

For young Astor and Mortimer Schiff, if the actors' plans do not go astray, are to be the "angels" who will tide 750 chorus girls, not to mention a whole host of other stage beauties and male stars, over any possible financial difficulties while the strike is on.

The word has reached the chorus ladies that Astor sympathizes with them in their struggle against the high cost of silk stockings and face powder and has hinted that he will be glad to help.

Barney Bernard and Ed Wynn were to see the young multi-millionaire and Schiff today and try to get financial backing for a series of co-operative theatrical enterprises to be backed by the strikers while they wait for the managers to surrender.

SIX SPARE BEDROOMS.

Wynn himself promised to place his theatrical earnings—and they amount to $1,000 a week—at the disposal of stranded actors during the strike, and invited any "busted" actors or actresses to make themselves at home in his six spare bedrooms.

"So help me, Hannah," said the comedian, addressing the greatest collection of beauties ever assembled in one spot since Solomon called his wives to dinner, "I don't care if I never play on the stage again so long as we win this strike."

Perhaps for the first time in history a musical show was staged here last night by direct command of the State courts. Many of the chorus girls and some of the principals of Ziegfeld's "Follies" were reported to have joined the strikers, so Flo Ziegfeld obtained a temporary injunction, restraining them from going on strike. It was up to the chorus girls to sing and dance or go to jail for contempt of court, so they sang and danced.

SUIT AGAINST HEADLINERS.

The managers were standing pat today and awaiting the effect upon the striking actors of the damage suits filed yesterday against nearly 300 of the strikers, alleging breach of contract, and claiming damages aggregating $500,000.

Among the well-known stars named in the suit, all members and officials of the Actors' Equity Association, were:

Barney Bernard, Jefferson de Angelis, Joseph Santley, Sam Bernard, Eddie Foy, Alla Nazimova, Tyrone Power, Frank Keenan, Henry Kolker, Fred Stone, Otis Skinner, Julia Sanderson, Walker Whiteside, Francis X. Bushman, Richard Carle, Douglas Fairbanks, William Hart, Laurette Taylor, Robert Edeson, Blanche Ring, Dustin Farnum, Elsie Ferguson, Trixie Friganza, DeWolf Hopper, Wilton Lackaye, Frank McIntyre, Robert Mantell, Julian Eltinge, Chauncey Olcott, Eleanor Painter, Maclyn Arbuckle, Donald Brian and Maurice Costello.

WORCESTER CITIZENS PLAN OMNIBUS LINE

Worcester, Aug. 12.—Worcester citizens may go into the omnibus business with a 5-cent fare in protest against the increased rates charged by the Worcester Consolidated Street Railway Company. The company served notice that it will soon apply for the privilege of charging 10 cents on its lines, affecting every town in the county.

A company has offered to run the busses for the people at a 5-cent fare, and today thousands of petitions were sent the Mayor demanding he grant the necessary license. However, the Mayor is not inclined to buck the Consolidated.

STEAMSHIP DELAYED BY ENGINE TROUBLE

After a troublesome journey and ten days overdue the Dutch steamship Noord Brabant, commanded by Captain Cummings, arrived here from Buenos Aires, Argentina, with a cargo of 1,500 bales of wool, 7,500 hides and general merchandise. She left port on June 26. About 100 miles north of Barbadoes engine trouble forced the craft to put in at the island for repairs. The journey was resumed on July 30. A week later the food supply ran low and had to be replenished at the Bermuda Islands. The Noord Brabant is one of the Dutch ships taken over by America during the war.

CANOPIC, ON WAY HERE, REFUSED WINE CARGO

The White Star liner Canopic, en route to this port from the Mediterranean Sea port and the Azores, is expected Saturday. On board are 95 saloon passengers, 318 first class and 603 steerage. Because of the prohibition laws of this country many large consignments of Italian wine were refused. It carries a general cargo of 8,000 tons for Boston and New York.

ACTRESS PICKETS ON THE JOB IN NEW YORK STRIKE

KILEY TO MAKE WAR ON 'CRIME TRUST'

Filing Papers for District-Attorney Fight; Flays Pelletier and Coakley

That there is crime profiteering and a "crime trust" in Suffolk County was the declaration today of Daniel J. Kiley, who filed his nomination papers for the office of District Attorney of Suffolk County.

Mr. Kiley has issued a statement in which he declares that his political opponents have begun to recognize the weakness of District Attorney Pelletier, candidate for re-election.

The statement also charges that Daniel H. Coakley, Mr. Pelletier's political adviser, is summoning prospective candidates to his Buzzards Bay home to pass upon their availability as substitute candidates for Mr. Pelletier.

The statement says, in part:

"I find that there is an overwhelming sentiment in the community that the ten years which the present incumbent has had in the office is a much longer term than is healthy for the community.

"I shall wage a fearless campaign against hypocrisy and crime profiteering in Suffolk County.

"My opponents, realizing the weakness of Pelletier for District Attorney, are now considering the advisability of taking another candidate, and Dan Coakley, Pelletier's political partner and guide, fearful of the result, is summoning prospective candidates to come to his palatial home at Buzzards Bay, from which operations are at present directed.

"I intend to ignore the assistant candidates who can be put in and drawn out at will, as was done three years ago when Coakley secured a clear field and no fight for his friend Pelletier.

"The slogan is 'The Crime Trust Must Be Dissolved,' and I go forth to wage the fight upon that basis, confident that the people desire a change and will rally to my support."

DESTROYER FORCE HELD UP BY LACK OF MEN

Newport, R. I., Aug. 12.—The destroyer force of the Atlantic fleet, in command of Rear Admiral Charles P. Plunkett, U. S. N., on board the flagship Rochester, which has been basing in Narragansett Bay, will stay there probably for a month longer, due to the shortage of personnel. Some of the men who had been discharged recently have re-enlisted and granted one month's leave to go to their homes.

Little hope is held out for his recovery.

Red Cross Girl Sees Evil in Soldiers' Overseas Brides

New York, Aug. 12.—Miss Byrd McFall, one of the Red Cross directors of "war bride" transport service from England and France to America, arrived in port with the prediction that the majority of marriages American soldiers contracted overseas will prove dismal failures. Miss McFall came in on the Lapland.

Many of the brides, she said, had police records in their own localities; many married just for the opportunity of coming to America and had no idea of remaining with their husbands, and many more should have been prevented from marrying by the army authorities, "for the sake of the American boys."

Miss McFall lives in Tulsa, Okla., and is a member of the Chickasaw tribe of Indians. When her parents died, she was adopted by Big Chief Ishata. For fourteen months she has been overseas for the Red Cross, and she told the following intimate story of the "war bride" situation as she found it:

"I have had the care of more than 1,100 of these women in England and in France, seeing that they were safely put on board the transports to which they were allotted.

"It is a shame that many of them were allowed to sail from either England or France; but the soldiers had married them, and what were the army authorities to do?

"There seemed to be no rule that could keep them back, and even when investigation showed that many of them should not be landed in America there was too much red tape to be cut to stop them from going. Many went without a necessary medical examination, which, if made, would have prevented some of them, at least, from embarking.

"Not until the latter part of the outgo to America was there any attempt at medical supervision, and then only after it had been repeatedly shown to the army authorities that these women were not fit to be a part of America's citizenship.

"I believe nearly all of the trouble was caused by the fact that the army offered to send back without charge the girls married to soldiers. If the soldier had known that he would have to pay a wife's passage at prevailing rates I think far fewer marriages would have been contracted. The majority of the marriages, we found, had been made on very short acquaintance, and some of the girls boasted that they did not intend to live with their husbands after their arrival in the United States.

"I will not say that all of the girls were like this, but there were far too many. We received reports in the concentration camps of the behavior of the brides on board the transports on which they were sent to the United States.

"From one former American passenger liner we received word that five of the brides were under lock and key when they reached New York because of their actions during the voyage. Several were arrested for theft, having stolen everything that they found within reach that was of value.

"I established instruction classes in the concentration camps for the brides, for the majority had not the slightest knowledge of America. The value of money and a small amount of the geography of the United States was taught them. Some of the girls believed that they could step to a telephone and call to their husbands in Portland, Oregon, to come down to the ship after them."

LAUNCH SHARKEY BEARING NAME OF NAVAL HERO

Torpedo Boat Destroyer in Water at Squantum; Widow Is Sponsor

The 21st boat to be launched at the Squantum yards of the Fore River plant of the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, was sent down the ways today at 12:30 o'clock. She is Hull No. 321 and is the torpedo boat destroyer Sharkey.

The destroyer is named in honor of Lieutenant W. J. Sharkey, who enlisted in 1903 and rose to his rank after fifteen years' active service in the navy, eight years of which were in the submarine division. He died in the line of duty October 5, 1918. Lieutenant Sharkey devoted several years to serving on submarines built at the Fore River yards and it is particularly fitting that a boat built by this plant should be named in honor of him, according to General Manager S. W. Wakeman.

Lieutenant Sharkey first served on the B type boat, and later on the C-5, D-3, D-2 and the O-5. The D-3 was formerly called the Salmon and was sent from Fore River July 1, 1909, to Bermuda and back, a distance of 1400 miles, in a successful effort to demonstrate to the government that Fore River submarines were seaworthy and habitable. On the acceptance of the Salmon Lieutenant Sharkey was assigned to it and served as instructor at Newport for two years.

The sponsor of the boat will be the widow of the man for whom it is named, Mrs. M. E. Sharkey of Newport, R. I.

Fagan, Hopedale, and brother of Vincent Fagan, student at Notre Dame University.

Girl Hurt by Auto

MACHINE GUNS IN SHOOT OFF AT CALDWELL

A very interesting and spectacular exhibition in the employment of machine guns, automatic rifles, Stokes mortars, 37-MM guns and grenades is being given by the detachment from the Infantry School of Arms of Fort Benning, Georgia, at the Navy Rifle Range, Caldwell, N. J., where the national matches are now taking place.

Commanded by Lieutenant E. J. Maloney, U. S. A., the machine gun crews fire the Browning automatic rifles, at the rate of about 450 shots per minute, at objects with telling results.

Each crew consists of three men—one auto-rifle man, one carrier and one scout.

Spectators are impressed with the precision and accuracy displayed by the machine-gunners. One of the significant reasons for the decisive defeat of the Hun is made graphically clear to all present.

Following the Browning Automatic Rifles, the Lewis machine rifle, and the famous French Chauchat are put through their paces.

Time tests of setting up and dismounting the heavy Browning machine guns follow. The winning team sets up their gun in eighteen seconds.

This is followed by 1000 shots fired from each machine gun, at the rate of 550 shots per minute. Tracer bullets are fired from the Brownings, at which onlookers marvel, for their various courses through the air to the target are quite clear to the naked eye.

The 37 MM. or one-pounders are then rushed to the firing point and a number of shots are fired.

NO RIDE IN AIR FOR NEW BEDFORD'S MAYOR

New Bedford, Aug. 12.—Mayor Charles S. Ashley will have to forego his promised ride in an airplane. The flying circus that has been doing stunts all the way from Texas to New England, in the interests of recruiting for the army aviation corps, was to have come to New Bedford. Lieutenant-Colonel Pruyn, in charge of recruiting activities here, invited the mayor to accompany the newspapermen on their flight. Now, however, the aviators have changed their plans and gone to Syracuse from Providence.

ENGLISH UNIVERSITIES ARE TO BE LIBERALIZED

London, Aug. 12.—Since Oxford University has asked for State assistance, it is predicted that it will not be long before sons and daughters of the working classes will be seen on the campus of the famous university, as in the Middle Ages. For generations the university has been beyond the reach of aspiring youth with limited financial means.

The Pall Mall Gazette comments that if Oxford and Cambridge do not themselves do some reconstructing along democratic lines the step will be taken "over their heads."

Boy Battered by Swing

North Adams, Aug. 12.—Falling from a large wooden swing and twice hit by the swing as he lay on the ground, Wesley Primmer, young son of Daniel Primmer of Summit avenue, received painful cuts on his head and tongue and injuries to his right eye.

CURTIS DEFIED BY BOSTON POLICE

1,400 Already Enrolled in Union, for Which He Says Men Will Be Discharged

The members of the Boston police department will ignore Commissioner Curtis' orders against joining the projected policemen's union, it was stated today.

"If the commissioner makes good his threat to dismiss any man who joins the union he will shortly discharge practically the entire force of 1735 men," a policeman who has been active in the efforts to unionize the department stated today.

"Fourteen hundred men have signified their intention to join the union already. The commissioner's threat to dismiss them will not deter a single one of them from doing so, either.

"EXCEEDED AUTHORITY."

"We believe that the commissioner exceeded his authority in issuing such an order, but whether he did or not we will ignore it. Somebody said once that you can't indict a nation. Well, neither can you discharge a whole police force.

"Personally, I believe Commissioner Curtis has no idea of attempting to enforce this order, but issued it just to forestall possible criticism against himself for not attempting to prevent the unionization of the force. He must realize that the Boston police are fully determined to go through with this matter and that they will go through with it absolutely and at all events.

"If the commissioner really means to fight this order, he will get action soon enough, for the union branch here will be organized within a few days."

CHARTER HASN'T ARRIVED.

According to this policeman, who is active in the councils of the leaders who have been agitating unionization, the A. F. of L. charter, contrary to reports, has not actually been received yet. He declares, however, that it has been issued and will be here within a day or two.

Several other members of the force, whose names cannot be used for obvious reasons, agreed that Commissioner Curtis' order would be ignored.

"We knew from the very outset just what the Commissioner would say and do," one of them said. "This order doesn't alarm us in the least."

The new rule, announced in a general order and read to all the men at roll-call, provides that no member of the force may join any outside affiliated body within the department other than a G. A. R. Post, Spanish War Veteran Camp or post of the American Legion.

RULING BY CURTIS.

In the general order creating the new ruling the commissioner states his position on the forming of the union. He says:

> It is, or should be, apparent to any thinking person, that the police department of this or any other city cannot fulfil its duty to the entire public if its members are subject to the direction of an organization existing outside the department. It is a well-recognized fact that a police officer is not an employe, but a State officer. He is charged with the impartial enforcement of the laws under the direction of a commissioner who is himself a statutory officer. The following rule interferes in no wise in a policeman's interests and activities as a man and a citizen. It does, however, forbid him and the department from coming under the direction and dictation of any organization which represents but one element or class of the community. If troubles and disturbances arise where the interests of this organization and the interests of other elements and classes in the community conflict, the situation immediately arises that always arises when a man attempts to serve two masters; he must fail either in his duty as a policeman or in his obligation to the organization that controls him. Therefore, the following is hereby added to and made part of Rule 35 of the Rules and Regulations and designated as Section 19 of said Rule:
> 19. No member of the force shall join or belong to any organization, club or body composed of present or present and past members of the force which is affiliated with or a part of any organization, club or body outside the department, except that a Post of the Grand Army of the Republic, the United Spanish War Veterans and the American Legion of World's War Veterans may be formed within the department.

EVERETT HAS OPTION ON Y. M. C. A. PROPERTY

Negotiations are now under way for the purchase of the Everett Y. M. C. A. property on Broadway, near Everett square. A special committee, headed by Chairman Charles B. Ladd, has taken action on the matter. The site is to be used for the erection of a new half-million-dollar high school.

The Y. M. C. A. has given the city an option on the property for $41,000 and it is now in the hands of a finance committee of the City Council. Mayor Weeks has recommended the purchase.

LEXINGTON TAX RATE $26.60, HIGHEST EVER

The tax rate for Lexington this year will be $26.60, according to announcement today by the assessors. This is an increase of $1.60 over last year's rate, and is the highest in the history of the town. The town appropriations this year have exceeded those of the past year by more than $30,000, and the State income returns were about $13,000 less than in 1918. The total valuation of the town is placed at $8,964,117, as compared with last year's figure of $8,512,637.

DEFENDS GIRL BATHERS, SCORES MEN'S KNOB LEGS

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Mrs. H. B. Harrison of Washington, D. C., thinks it's an outrage that Atlantic City should force bathing girls to wear stockings, and she writes the beach censor all about it. "Girls, after all, have curves and attractions not at all disgusting," says Mrs. Harrison. "Why can't you do something about the awful looking men who parade around with legs full of knobs?"

Labor Situation Here Demands Caution, Says Gompers

By International News Service.

Paris, Aug. 12.—"The labor situation in America is one requiring careful handling," declared Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, today, when asked for his opinion on industrial unrest in the United States.

Mr. Gompers had just held a long conference with Under Secretary of State Frank L. Polk to post him upon the results of the convention of the International Trade Union Congress in Amsterdam.

G. O. P. READY TO TEST TALK OF REVOLUTION

Threat of Railroad Tieup Prompts Challenge by Publicity Committee

By International News Service.

Washington, Aug. 12.—"If we must have revolution, let it come now and determine at once whether government by the majority is to survive."

This is the closing paragraph of a statement issued today by the Republican Publicity Association, in which it is asserted that "the threat of a general tieup of the entire railway system of the country looms ominously" unless the demands of the railroad unions for higher wages and enactment of the Plumb plan are promptly complied with.

"The country," the statement says, "has never experienced a general strike on its railroad, hence has little comprehension of the catastrophe that would follow such an action on the part of the railroad operatives. The stoppage of rail transportation means almost instant collapse of practically every activity, immediate suffering from lack of food, followed by actual starvation, and universal riot by desperate individuals fighting for the very existence of themselves and their loved ones.

"Such a cataclysm would be infinitely worse than anything the Huns could have inflicted upon us. But we used 'force without stint' against them. Shall it be said that the people are not as ready to fight for the perpetuation of the nation and the rights of individuals against this monster that is gnawing at our vitals?

"The railroad employes constitute only a part of organized labor, but organized labor itself is only about fifteen per cent. of our people. Are the other eighty-five per cent. to permit themselves to be held up at the point of a pistol and told that the organization of the whole country must be accommodated to the demands of the few?

"If we must have revolution let it come now and determine at once whether government by the majority is to survive."

LEGION SPEEDS UP WORK FOR EX-SERVICE MEN

A statement was issued today from the New York headquarters of the American Legion urging discharged service men to avail themselves of the facilities the legion offers in the collection of bonuses, Liberty Bonds and travel pay checks. The statement calls attention to the resolution passed at the St. Louis conference of the legion in this regard. It is pointed out that delivery of Liberty Bonds has been expedited, war bonuses speeded up and extra compensation for wounded men obtained through the various posts. The statement adds that the legion is also ready to aid ex-service men in the matter of war risk insurance.

SEEK HERO MEDALS FOR NANTASKET LIFE-SAVERS

Residents of Hull have made application for medals of bravery to the Massachusetts Humane Society in the cases of John J. Jacobs, a storekeeper at Nantasket, and his brother, Corporal Harry Jacobs of No. 64 Winter street, Quincy, who, on last Saturday, rescued from drowning Alexander Gilbert of No. 27 Belvidere street, Boston, when the latter went down for the second time while in bathing in the surf off Nantasket. The two men rushed into the water fully clothed and held the man up until taken aboard the boat of Benjamin Atwood, a lobster fisherman. Gilbert was revived by a pulmotor.

SAYS ALL BRITISH LABOR MAY UNITE FOR STRIKE

London, Aug. 12.—Should the government formally reject the demand for nationalization of the coal mines a new labor situation resulting in the solidarity of the whole trade union movement in Great Britain is likely to arise, said the Daily Express today. The Triple Alliance (coal miners, railway workers and dock workers), probably will appeal to the Trade Union Congress at a special meeting to order a general strike to enforce all their previous demands. Premier Lloyd-George has promised to make a statement on the industrial situation on August 21.

WOMEN AUTOISTS IN SOUTH BOSTON COURT

Ten men and two women, appeared in the South Boston Court today charged with violations of auto laws. Their cases were placed on file. This is the first time in several years that women have been cited into this court on charges of violating auto laws. Miss Rose W. Hendrickson of Warwick street, Wollaston, was charged with overspeeding, and Miss Mary M. Purdy, Wheatland street, with having dazzling lights.

LEGION BULWARK OF NATION, SAYS ROOSEVELT

It Stands for 100 Per Cent. Americanism, Says Son of Former President

The American Legion stands for 100 per cent. Americanism, in the opinion of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., as expressed in the following apreciation of the league and its purposes:

"The American Legion is the spontaneous growth of the sentiments of the service men; its creed represents the thought of all; it is essentially a civilian organization; it is concerned primarily with the welfare of the United States and of its individual members. Among the thousands who aided in the early stages of its organization there was absolute accord in the following principles:

"First, the organization should be non-partisan, concerning itself possibly with policies, but never with partisan politics. Second, its membership should be composed of service men and women, regardless of whether they served overseas or were unfortunate enough to have their duty keep them in this country. Third, it should be really civilian and in its councils, general and private, admiral and gob would be treated on the same basis.

"Through all of its actions, the doctrine of Americanism stands foremost. By it the impulses of patriotism generated in the great war will be crystallized and preserved for the future good of the nation. Its fields of useful activity are bounded only by the desires of its members.

BULWARK FOR NATION.

"There has been much talk about the Bolsheviki, the I. W. W. and the Red Flag Socialists. Many people have expressed fears concerning the attitude of our army on these menaces. There is no need for such fear. The strongest bulwark this country can have against lawless anarchy is this society composed of service men. The service man, having given up himself to the country, intends to see that this country which he loves comes to no harm.

"It has been the policy of the American Legion, wherever I have come in contact with it, to play the game with all the cards on the table. The service man will not tolerate any other form of organization. He wishes, at all times, to be able not to tell anyone what he is doing, but equally to be able to find out anything that the organization, through some other branch, may be doing. To anyone who knows the American service man this is absolutely normal. He is square and will not associate himself with an organization unless it is square.

PRACTICAL METHODS OF HELP.

"The reason I urge all service men not only to join, but to take an active part in the affairs of this organization, is that through it they can express themselves. In its ranks they find the men who have done the same trick that they have done, and with whose ideas they are thoroughly in sympathy. They can make the organization what they wish, and I have no fear for anything that the organization may do so long as they take an active interest in it.

"So far, I have spoken mainly of how the service man can use the organization for the benefit of this country. Of course, this benefits him, but there are other and more practical methods of helping the service men which the organization is using, or may use if its members so desire. At this time, there is established a re-employment bureau. In addition, there is the War Risk Insurance Department for handling questions of allotments, insurance, etc. In many of the communities club houses are established which will form the meeting places where the thought of the community is interchanged and its opinions crystallized.

A SYSTEM OF BENEFITS.

"In addition to these activities which have been organized already, it lies within the power of the Legion to institute a system of benefits for old age, disability, etc., and a legal department, whereby the best legal advice may be available. There would be men to undertake such work as detailed above, not from the point of view of the hired employe serving his employer, but rather from the point of view of one comrade helping another comrade.

"The history of the actions of the American Legion is as clean as a hound's tooth. For all the statements I have made above there is a guarantee in the actions of the caucuses composed of men drawn from every State in the Union, of every creed and race, of every walk in life that you find in the country. In no uncertain terms the St. Louis convention expressed itself on the Bolshevism in the profession of faith adopted at the Paris caucus the same principles are set forth.

"As a member of the American Legion, I feel I am a member of the body which most truly represents one hundred per cent. Americanism."

ICE DEALERS SAY SUPPLY IS SHORT

Cent-a-Pound Rate in Peabody and Attleboro Complained of By Citizens

That all New England is face to face with a serious shortage of ice was declared this morning by Senator Edward H. Eames of Reading, president of one of the large wholesale companies.

Senator Eames, testifying at a public hearing on the ice situation conducted by the Commission on the Necessaries of Life, declared that unless the Boston retailers have on hand a supply far in excess of what they are believed to have, there will not be sufficient ice to last through the month of September.

Brigadier-General John H. Sherburne, chairman of the commission, announced today that the commission is sending to every ice company in the State a questionnaire, the purpose of which is to ascertain the supply of ice on hand, the cost of ice and the prices at which it is sold to the public.

At today's hearing charges were made by citizens of Peabody and of Attleboro that prices in those cities are higher than are warranted by existing conditions.

CENT A POUND CHARGED.

George A. Sweeney, a member of the Attleboro City Government, laid before the commission an advertisement printed in a local paper signed by all of the three local dealers, stating that after March 29 the price would be $1 per hundred pounds for family service and 20 cents per hundred pounds in bulk, consisting of a ton or more at one delivery. From these prices a discount of five per cent was allowed if coupon books were used and paid for in advance.

Alderman Sweeney declared that only last Saturday the manager of the Attleboro Ice Company informed him that he prepared his list of prices early in March and sent a copy to each of the other dealers. Publication of the advertisement, signed by all three, followed in a few days.

This same official told him, he declared, that the practice of charging twice as much to the family trade as to the large consumers was instituted by his father thirty-five years ago, and he had followed it ever since as a matter of habit.

James T. Sullivan, a member of the city council of Peabody, said consumers there are forced to pay a cent a pound for ice which is cut from ponds owned by the city, while the same ice is sold to dealers in Salem at $1 per ton, or one-fifth of a cent per pound.

COMPLAIN OF WOMAN.

The Peabody dealer against whom specific complaint was made is Mrs. H. A. Batchelder, who handles the largest business of the five concerns selling ice cut from the Peabody ponds. T. H. Sawyer, sealer of weights and measures in Peabody, said Mrs. Batchelder justifies her retail prices on the ground that her supply is short and she may be obliged to go into the market and purchase ice. This would be unnecessary, he said, if she had not delivered ice outside of the city. He thought Peabody citizens should have first call on ice cut from their own ponds, for the use of which only a nominal rental is charged.

Senator Eames said the present shortage is the most acute he has ever known, and he has been in the business since 1880. Last Winter his company had difficulty cutting ice fifteen inches thick, in ponds where the year before it was twenty-eight and thirty inches. He estimated that there is not 5,000 tons of ice in New England which is not now under control of the Boston market. So general is the shortage, he said, that his company was asked last week to aid Newburyport, as well as Dover, Rochester and Portsmouth in New Hampshire.

His company has sold ice this year, he said, at prices ranging from $2.50 to $6 per ton. In past years it has sold as low as 80 cents per ton. He asserted, however, that there was no money in the business at that price, although there is a profit at present figures. The labor cost of harvesting last Winter, he said, was approximately 30 cents per ton.

BRITISH AND AMERICANS IN ACCORD ON HUNGARY

Paris, Aug. 12.—The British and American Peace Conference delegates are in absolute accord in handling the Rumanian situation, it was stated in American official circles here today. Certain newspaper attempts to align the British with the plans for the restoration of the Hapsburg monarchy in Hungary were characterized as inspired propaganda.

POSTMEN WILL TAKE ORDERS FOR FOOD

the employes by cooperating in a prompt distribution of the government stores and thus aiding New England residents to combat the high cost of living. Practically all have agreed to do so. The postmaster set the example by announcing that he had abandoned his own vacation plans for this year.

An order from the Postmaster-General today raised the maximum parcel post weight for first and second zones to 125 pounds instead of 70. The charges are 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent for every additional pound. This would make the rate for a 125-pound shipment [illegible] $1.29. Insurance costs 5 cents for $25 valuation. The extended weight limit and the reduced parcel post rate is applicable to army food shipments only.

The parcel post rate within the Boston postal district is now 5 cents for the first pound and one-half cent for every additional one. No instructions have been received at the postoffice whether this rate will continue for food shipments. It is believed that the majority of food orders by parcel post will come from without Metropolitan Boston, as the community food distribution centres serve practically all sections of the city.

A tentative organization for handling army food orders has been evolved by the postmaster. This will be subject to changes when orders are received from Washington.

3 AUTOISTS FINED ON INTOXICATION CHARGE

Charged with driving his auto while under the influence of liquor, Jacob Rall Abt, twenty-four, of Beacon street, was fined $75 in Newton Court today. John Dahl and Igla Wirth, Harvard Summer School students, who were with him in the machine, were fined $5 for drunkenness.

PIONEER INFANTRY ON NANTASKET OUTING

A thousand members of the Third Pioneer Infantry, formerly the Fifth Regiment of the National Guard, had a rollicking good time at Nantasket today as guests of the city of Boston. Accompanied by a band, their officers, and representatives of the city, the boys went down the bay on the steamer Betty Alden. A box luncheon was served at the beach. They spent the afternoon in athletic sports, including ball games and swimming matches. Dinner was served them in the Palm Garden at Paragon Park. They returned to town by a late boat.

first day, and that satisfaction would be more general.

A few of the distribution centres, which either opened late or were poorly patronized early in the day, were able to satisfy the demands of customers until evening.

PRICES SLASHED.

At the same time that the housewives were making a cleanup of the food stores the Boston Army Supply Base Depot announced a big slash in prices upon authority from Washington. Six-pound cans of corned beef were reduced from $1.93 to $1.75, or $21 for a case of twelve cans. The price of a six-pound can of roast beef is now $1.80 instead of $2.13, and $21.60 for a twelve-can case.

Beans came in for a heavy slashing. One-pound cans of the baked variety were cut from 5 to 4 cents, two-pound cans from 8 to 6 cents and three-pound cans from 11 to 9 cents. Ten-pound cans of stringless beans were reduced from 42 to 40 cents, and two-pound cans of sweet corn, previously quoted at 10 cents, was cut 1 cent per can. Two-pound cans of tomatoes were cut from 12 to 9 cents, three-pound cans from 12 to 11 and ten-pound cans from 37 to 33 cents a can. The price of assorted crackers is the only one to have an advance in the revised schedule. They were increased 1 cent, being now 6 cents instead of 5.

CROWDS ON HAND EARLY.

Crowds of women were clamoring for admission to the distribution centres hours before they were open for business this morning. Hundreds were turned away empty handed, some of them crying. The coveted foodstuffs at most were carried away in bags, baby carriages and other unusual receptacles.

Scores of shopgirls and shoppers from the suburban section who flocked to Boston Common station at noon confronted locked doors and a sign that the station would be open again on Thursday for the sale of army foodstuffs.

The small truckload which was emptied into that station lasted scarcely an hour, and it was nearly 1 o'clock before it arrived. Meantime, a long line, consisting mostly of men, waited for the opening.

Miss Margaret Jacobs, in charge of the station, declared they could have sold four times the quantity they received. On account of the small number of cases of canned vegetables only six cases were allowed to each person.

Thirty-nine cases of vegetables were sold in just ten minutes at the municipal building, Columbia road, Dorchester, where more than 1,600 people stormed the doors. Ten minutes after the doors opened everything was cleaned out and 400 people were turned away disappointed.

WILL REOPEN THURSDAY.

At St. Ambrose parish house on Adams street, Dorchester, a total of seventy-four cases was sold in one hour to some 1,500 people. The closing of the station until Thursday because of lack of supplies was announced by Mrs. Agnes DeLoury in charge.

With ten assistants working busily every minute the Dorchester station at No. 277 Bowdoin street did the biggest business of any of the stations in this section if not in Greater Boston, it was stated. Everything was sold out shortly after noon and everything in this place meant 61 cases of tomatoes, 48 of peas, 32 of corn and 120 tins each of corned beef and bacon.

IF THIN AND NERVOUS, TRY PHOSPHATE

Nothing Like Plain Bitro-Phosphate to Put on Firm, Healthy Flesh and to Increase Strength, Vigor and Nerve Force.

When one stops to consider the host of thin people who are searching continually for some method by which they may increase their flesh to normal proportions by the filling out of ugly hollows, the rounding off of protruding angles with the attendant bloom of health and attractiveness, it is no wonder that many and varied suggestions along this line appear from time to time in public print.

While excessive thinness might be attributed to various and subtle causes in different individuals it is a well-known fact that the lack of sufficient phosphorous in the human system is very largely responsible for this condition. Experiments on humans and animals by many scientists have demonstrated beyond question of doubt that a body deficient in phosphorous becomes nervous, sickly and thin. A noted author and professor in his book, "Chemistry and Food Nutrition," published in 1918, says: "* * * that the amount of phosphorous required for the normal nutrition of man is seriously underestimated in many of our standard text books."

It seems to be well established that this deficiency in phosphorous may now be met by the use of an organic phosphate known throughout English speaking countries as Bitro-Phosphate. Through the assimilation of this phosphate by the nerve tissue the phosphoric content when absorbed in the amount normally required by nature soon produces a welcome change in our body and mind. Nerve tension disappears, vigor and strength replace weakness and lack of energy, and the whole body soon loses its ugly hollows and abrupt angles, becoming enveloped in a glow of perfect health and beauty and the will and strength to be up and doing.

CAUTION.—While Bitro-Phosphate is unsurpassed for the relief of nervousness, general debility, etc., those taking it who do not desire to put on flesh should use extra care in avoiding fat-producing foods.—Advertisement.

PRINCE GOES ASHORE AT ST. JOHN'S

Greeted by Thousands as He Lands at Newfoundland's Capital

By International News Service.

St. John's, N. F., Aug. 12.—The Prince of Wales arrived here at 11 a. m. today aboard the cruiser Dragon, escorted by the cruiser Dauntless, the battleship Renown, on which he crossed the Atlantic, proceeding on to Halifax.

The Prince came ashore at noon and was greeted by practically every citizen of St. John's, as well as thousands from small Newfoundland villages.

Business was suspended for three hours and a cheering crowd lined the route of the procession in which the young Prince made his way to the government house.

The ceremony as the Prince came ashore was very formal. Addresses of welcome were delivered by representatives of the municipality, the board of trade and the Newfoundland Legislature. The Prince had previously prepared written replies to these addresses which were read immediately afterwards.

The royal party then entered automobiles and were driven beneath quaint triumphal arches, some of them constructed of rude logs and intertwined with branches of fir trees and others of spars of fishing vessels, indicative of Newfoundland's principal industry.

A luncheon in honor of the Prince this afternoon was attended by officials of the city of St. John's, members of the Legislature and prominent citizens.

COUNCIL PUTS OFF ACTION ON MERGER

Will Mayor Peters' proposed merger of four city departments soon be adopted by the City Council? Some wiseacres at City Hall say it will and others are just as sure it will not. The council has been putting the matter off while its members jockeyed for votes.

The merger would place the penal institutions, infirmary institutions, registration and children's institutions under a single head at $7,000 or $7,500 a year. Penal Commissioner Sanford Bates is regarded as the most likely candidate for the job. He now draws a salary of $5,000. Opposition to the merger developed because the children's department would come under the same head as the penal institutions department. The merger was authorized by a special act of last year's Legislature.

FORD ON TOUR TRIES TO END A STRIKE

And Agrees With Tilton, N. H., Strikers That They Are Underpaid

Tilton, N. H., Aug. 12.—Henry Ford acted as a self-appointed conciliator in the strike of the Tilton optical employes today, urging the men to return to work. Mixing with the strikers Ford agreed with them that they should be getting higher wages, but advised them to return to work and ask for arbitration.

Ford, with Thomas A. Edison, also paid a visit to a local plant where most of the endless belts used on his autos are made. With Edison, John Burroughs, the naturalist, and H. F. Firestone, the tire manufacturer, Ford is making an auto tour of New England.

The "flivver king" draws the water for the party and sees that the radiators of the five machines used by the party are kept filled. Three of the machines are Fords, but in them Ford rides not. Firestone is official wood-chopper for the party, who have been camping out every night. Today they ate their first hotel breakfast.

Edison spends most of his time reading. At the hotel today he said:

"I am very hard of hearing, but I would not have my hearing back for a million dollars. As things are now, I am able to study, and particularly to study nature without interruption, to which I would be continually subjected if I could hear everything that goes on."

John Burroughs is the official lecturer of the party, and as the party motors along, describes the birds and flowers which are passed. Burroughs left the party last night to visit friends, but rejoined it at Franklin today.

Meals for the party are cooked in a specially designed "Zinc Elizabeth," built under Ford's personal direction, and equipped as a traveling kitchenette. Ten men accompany the quartet to do the heavy work. One of them is an experimenter from the Ford factory.

SAYS PEOPLE MUST SAVE TO CUT LIVING COSTS

If the people of New England are to co-operate with the government in reducing the high cost of living in these States they must stop immediately the extravagant spending of their income and place their savings in safe securities. So states William Mather Lewis, newly appointed director of the Savings Division of the Treasury Department, who came to Boston to confer with the directors of the War Savings Division of the First Federal Reserve District.

Lewis spoke in regard to the future policy of promoting thrift and the sale of Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and other government securities in New England at a meeting of the New England directors held at the First Federal Reserve Bank, No. 53 State street.

GIOVANNITTI SPEAKS SECRETLY IN METHUEN

Lawrence, Aug. 12.—Arturo M. Giovannitti, poet and writer, prominent in the I. W. W. strike of 1912, addressed a large audience of local workers here secretly, it was learned.

The speaker came here under the auspices of the Amalgamated Workers' Union. The meeting was held at Maple Park, Methuen.

Giovannitti spoke on "Industrial Democracy," dealing with the unrest of labor throughout the world. Speaking in both English and Italian he told the workers of his endorsement of the Amalgamated Workers' Union.

An Internal Treatment For Piles (Hemorrhoids)

Gives absolute relief from all pain and suffering. Has never failed. Guaranteed.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless, and that there was no remedy for their case.

Go to your druggist and get an original bottle of Miro Pile Remedy, the discovery of a clever Ohio chemist, that, taken internally, passes unchanged through the stomach and intestines, and thus reaches the source of the trouble, where, by its soothing, healing, antiseptic action, it first allays and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days, even in cases that have resisted all previously known treatments really wonderful results have been accomplished. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years, and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

Just read what Mr. F. M. Smith of 2313 Broadway, Lorain, Ohio, says:

"I gladly recommend Miro Remedy for piles. There is no equal to it. I suffered for 18 years and tried everything that was recommended. I doctored for years and was a constant sufferer with bleeding piles. I took two bottles of Miro and was entirely relieved. Any sufferer using it will never regret it."

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT. What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of the word although this condition may accompany a true case of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared, as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. If your druggist cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above, mail charges paid, on receipt of price. Internal Treatment $1.50, War Tax 6c; Ointment 50c, War Tax 2c extra. Ford Tells a New One Himself—the Story of a Cat

Here's a new Ford story—No. 918,176,154,011—by Henry Ford himself.

A native of Tilton, N. H., where Ford and his companions on an auto camping tour of New England spent the night, began to "kid" the "father of the flivver" about his machine, referring to it as a "tin Lizzie." Ford laughed as he said:

"Well, one of my machines ran over a cat in the mountains today—and it didn't hurt the cat a bit!"

QUINCY FIGHTS PAYMENT OF 'L' DEFICIT

Files Bill in Equity to Test Act Appointing Trustees of Road

The city of Quincy in a bill in equity filed in the Supreme Court has joined with the city of Boston in testing the constitutionality of the legislative act under which trustees were appointed to operate the Boston Elevated Railway Company, and which act further provided that any deficiency should be assessed upon cities and towns benefited by the service.

Quincy especially objects to having to pay any part of the $3,980,151.67 which the treasurer has paid over to the trustees as representing the amount of the deficiency on July 1 last. It is claimed that Quincy is not one of the cities in which the Boston Elevated system is operated within the meaning of chapter 159 of the acts of 1918, and that the proposed assessment upon that city is null and void.

It is further contended that any assessment made at this time would be premature and therefore null and void, as the State tax for the current year was approved by the Governor of the Commonwealth on July 22, 1919, two days before the date of the payment made by the treasurer and receiver-general to the railway company.

The bill asks that the trustees may be enjoined from including Quincy in the cities and towns to be assessed; and that the treasurer and receiver-general be restrained from levying any assessment upon Quincy.

North Adams, Aug. 12.—Motormen and conductors employed by the Berkshire Street Railway Company, who have tied up the system since they went on strike at midnight Friday, have decided not to return to work until a receiver has been appointed to take charge of the affairs of the company.

The petition for a receiver is to be presented to the Federal Court at either Boston or New York.

FISH STRIKE, THOUGHT ENDED, STILL ON

Names of Two Concerns Not on Agreement Men Refuse to Ratify

The fishermen's strike, believed to have been settled by the signing of an agreement, was still on today as a result of the refusal of the men to ratify the agreement.

This refusal took place at a meeting of the Fishermen's Union of the Atlantic when it became known that the Gorton-Pew Company of Gloucester and the Boston Fish Pier Corporation had failed to sign the agreement.

These two concerns are members of the so-called "Big Four," the others who signed being the Bay State Fishing Company and the East Coast Fisheries Company. Arthur L. Parker, president of the Boston Fish Pier Corporation, was a party to the agreement as president of the Boston Trawling Company.

The striking fishermen declared that the matter had gone beyond the question of a strike and was now a problem of whether or not they could afford to remain in the industry. They asserted they would not return to work until the finding of the arbitration board was made and not then if it were unsatisfactory.

The officers of the union succeeded in postponing a vote until a meeting today at which time also the members of the Fish Handlers' Union will also meet. The members of the latter organization were much disappointed over the failure of the Boston Fish Pier Corporation to sign the agreement.

A number of vessel owners were prepared today to send out their craft for quick trips to the fishing banks, but were unable to do so.

Hotel Help Strike at York Beach, Guests Serve Themselves

York Beach, Me., Aug. 12.—About the guests of one of the [illegible] hotels here today faced cooking their own meals and washing their own dishes, or going breakfastless. The kitchen staff and the waitresses struck for increased wages, and the hotel management refused to grant the demands.

Strikes at the hotels here have been of almost daily occurrence. The girls state that wages are very low, waitresses getting only $18 to $20 a week in addition to meals and rooms. In order to make a living wage, they say, they are obliged to "work" the guests for as many and as large tips as possible. The kitchen maids are said to have been paid 100 per cent. more than last year, but is dissatisfied even with this increase.

For a fortnight past there has been no sugar here, even for the hotel guests, and unsweetened coffee and tea have been served.

He Quit Tobacco

This veteran, S. H. Lamphere, was addicted to the excessive use of tobacco many years. He wanted to quit but needed something to help.

He learned of a free book that tells about tobacco habit and how to conquer it quickly, easily and safely. In a letter he writes: "I have no desire for tobacco any more. I feel like a new man." Others report similarly. Wonderful for easily overcoming cigarette and pipe habit, and chewing.

Anyone desiring a copy of this book can get it free, postpaid, by writing to Edward J. Woods, TD-31, Station F, New York City. You will be surprised and pleased. Look for quieter nerves, stronger heart, better digestion, improved eyesight, increased vigor, longer life and other advantages if you quit poisoning yourself with tobacco. In three days you can be rid of the addiction—then become robust, add solid flesh, become a man among men. This is genuine; show others this advt.

The floodgates of thrilling bargains stand ajar. Our duty is to mould your silent sympathies into harmonious acts. Bold determinations to make the most of your life, without actually making every effort to economize, are as worthless as a summer breeze. Flowers must be imbedded in the right kind of earth, then with light and water they will thrive. Humanity yearns for the cooling touch of brotherly love, and the friendly grasp of a cherished hand, but for an individual to meet the tasks of life, and pay his honest debts, educate and clothe his precious family, these modern days there must be a standard type of a faithful medium of exchange. To shrink from an imposed God-given earthly duty is cowardice. Your mind and body were given you to use. Worthless, purposeless people see only ruin, trails of tribulation whichever way they look. The savings offered in the Lockhart Sale have grown to be almost a necessity in this city. The very essence of this sale is economy. Thousands enjoy comfort they could not know but for this sale.

LODGE LIKENS THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS TO "HOLY ALLIANCE"

SEES AMERICA'S GREATEST PERIL IN WAR PROVISION

dieval times and going back no further than the treaty of Utrecht at the beginning of the Eighteenth Century, we find that in that period a project of a treaty to establish perpetual peace was brought forward in 1713 by the Abbe de Saint-Pierre. The treaty of Utrecht was to be the basis of an international system.

DORMANT TILL 1791.

The idea remained in an academic condition until 1791, when under pressure of the French Revolution Count Kaunitz sent out a circular letter in the name of Leopold, of Austria, urging that it was the duty of all the powers to make common cause for the purpose of "preserving public peace, tranquillity of States, the inviolability of possession, and the faith of treaties," which has a very familiar sound.

Napoleon had a scheme of his own for consolidating the great European peoples and establishing a central assembly, but the Napoleonic idea differed from that of the eighteenth century, as one would expect. A single great personality dominated and hovered over all.

In 1804 the Emperor Alexander took up the question and urged a general treaty for the formation of a European confederation.

The Emperor, moved by more immediately alluring visions, put aside this scheme at the treaty of Tilsit and then decided that peace could best be restored to the world by having two all-powerful emperors, one of the east and one of the west. After the Moscow campaign, however, he returned to his early dream.

Under the influence of Baroness von Krudener he became a devotee of a certain mystic pietism which for some time guided his public acts, and I think it may be fairly said that his liberal and popular ideas of that period, however vague and uncertain, were sufficiently genuine. Based upon the treaties of alliance against France, those of Chaumont and of Vienna, was the final treaty of Paris, of November 20, 1815.

THE HOLY ALLIANCE.

In the preamble the signatories, who were Great Britain, Austria, Russia and Prussia, stated that it is the purpose of the ensuing treaty and their desire "to employ all their means to prevent the general tranquillity (the object of the wishes of mankind and the constant end of their efforts) from being again disturbed; desirous, moreover, to draw closer the ties which unite them for the common interests of their people, have resolved to give to the principles solemnly laid down in the treaties of Chaumont of March 1, 1814, and of Vienna of March 25, 1815, the application the most analogous to the present state of affairs, and to fix beforehand by a solemn treaty the principles which they propose to follow, in order to guarantee Europe from dangers by which she may still be menaced."

Then follow five articles which are devoted to an agreement to hold France in control and check, based largely on other more detailed agreements. But in Article VI it is said:

"To facilitate and to secure the execution of the present treaty, and to consolidate the connections which at the present moment so closely unite the four sovereigns for the happiness of the world, the high contracting parties have agreed to renew their meeting at fixed periods, either under the immediate auspices of the sovereigns themselves, or by their respective ministers, for the purpose of consulting upon their common interests, and for the consideration of the measures which at each of those periods shall be considered the most salutary for the repose and prosperity of nations and for the maintenance of the peace of Europe."

ITS REPUDIATION.

Certainly nothing could be more ingenuous or more praiseworthy than the purposes of the alliance then formed, and yet it was this very combination of powers which was destined to grow into what has been known, and we might add cursed, throughout history as the Holy Alliance.

In 1825 Great Britain recognized the South American republics. So far as the New World was concerned the Holy Alliance had failed. It was deprived of the support of France by the revolution of 1830, but it continued to exist under the guidance of Metternich, and its last exploit was in 1849, when the Emperor Nicholas sent a Russian army into Hungary to crush out the struggle of Kossuth for freedom and independence.

Turn to the preamble of the covenant of the League of Nations now before us, which states the object of the league. It is formed "in order to promote international co-operation, to achieve international peace and security by the acceptance of obligations not to resort to war, by the prescription of open, just, and honorable relations between nations, by the firm establishment of the understandings of international laws as the actual rule of conduct among governments and by the maintenance of justice and a scrupulous respect for all treaty obligations in the dealings of organized peoples with one another."

No one would contest the loftiness or the benevolence of these purposes. Brave words, indeed! They do not differ essentially from the preamble of the treaty of Paris, from which sprang the Holy Alliance. But the covenant of this league contains a provision which I do not find in the treaty of Paris, and which is as follows:

"The Assembly may deal at its meetings with any matter within the sphere of action of the league or affecting the peace of the world."

ALL AFFECT WORLD.

No revolutionary movement, no internal conflict of any magnitude can fail to affect the peace of the world. The French Revolution, which was wholly internal at the beginning, affected the peace of the world to such an extent that it brought on a world war which lasted some twenty-five years.

Can anyone say that our Civil War did not affect the peace of the world? At this very moment, who would deny that the condition of Russia, with internal conflicts raging in all parts of that great empire, does not affect the peace of the world, and, therefore, come properly within the jurisdiction of the league.

With regard to wars of external aggression on a member of the league, the case is perfectly clear. There can be no genuine dispute whatever about the meaning of the first clause of Article 10. In the first place, it differs from every other obligation in being individual and placed upon each nation without the intervention of the league.

Each nation for itself promises to respect and preserve as against external aggression the boundaries and the political independence of every member of the league. Of the right of the United States to give such a guaranty I have never had the slightest doubt and the elaborate arguments which have been made here and the learning which has been displayed about our treaty with Granada, now Colombia, and with Panama, were not necessary for me because, I repeat, there can be no doubt of our right to give a guaranty to another nation that we will protect its boundaries and independence.

The point I wish to make is that the pledge is an individual pledge. We have, for example, given guaranties to Panama and for obvious and sufficient reasons. The application of that guaranty would not be in the slightest degree affected by ten or twenty other nations giving the same pledge, if Panama, when in danger, appealed to us to fulfill our obligation.

MUST GO ABROAD.

We should be bound to do so without the slightest reference to the other guarantors. In Article 10 the United States is bound on the appeal of any member of the league not only to respect but to preserve its independence and its boundaries, and that pledge, if we give it, must be fulfilled.

Article 11 carries this danger still further, for it says:

"Any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the members of the league or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the whole league and the league shall take any action that shall be deemed wise and effectual to safeguard the peace of nations."

Under Article 11, if King Hussein appealed to us for aid and protection against external aggression affecting his independence and the boundaries of his kingdom, we should be bound to give that aid and protection and to send American soldiers to Arabia. It is not relevant to say that this is unlikely to occur; that Great Britain is quite able to take care of King Hussein, who is her fair creation, reminding one a little of the Mosquito King, a monarch once developed by Great Britain on the Mosquito Coast of Central America.

The fact that we should not be called upon does not alter the right which the King of Hedjaz possesses to demand the sending of American troops to Arabia in order to preserve his independence against the assaults of the Wahabis or Bedouins. I am unwilling to give that right to King Hussein, and this illustrates the point which is to me the most objectionable in the league as it stands; the right of other powers to call out American troops and American ships to go to any part of the world, an obligation we are bound to fulfill under the terms of this treaty.

Let me now briefly point out the insuperable difficulty which I find in Article 15. It begins: "If there should arise between members of the league any dispute likely to lead to a rupture"—. "Any dispute" covers every possible dispute. It therefore covers a dispute over tariff duties and over immigration.

Suppose we have a dispute with Japan or with some European country as to immigration. I put aside tariff duties as less important than immigration. This is not an imaginary case. Of late years there has probably been more international discussion and negotiation about questions growing out of immigration laws than any other one subject.

It comes within the definition of "any dispute" at the beginning of Article 15. In the eighth paragraph of that article it is said that "if the dispute between the parties is claimed by one of them, and is found by the council to arise out of a matter which, by international law, is solely within the domestic jurisdiction of that party, the council shall so report and shall make no recommendation as to its settlement."

That is one of the statements, of which there are several in this treaty, where words are used which it is difficult to believe their authors could have written down in seriousness. They seem to have been put in for the same purpose as what is known in natural history as protective coloring. Protective coloring is intended so to merge the animal, the bird or the insect in his background that it will be indistinguishable from its surroundings and difficult, if not impossible, to find the elusive and hidden bird, animal or insect.

We and we alone must say who shall come into the United States and become citizens of this Republic and no one else should have any power to utter one word in regard to it.

Article 21 says:

"Nothing in this covenant shall be deemed to affect the validity of international engagements, such as treaties of arbitration or regional understandings like the Monroe Doctrine for securing the maintenance of peace."

This provision did not appear in the final draft of the covenant and when the President explained the second draft of the covenant to the Peace Conference, he said:

"Article 21 is new."

And that was all he said. No one can question the truth of the remark, but I trust I shall not be considered disrespectful if I say that it was not an illuminating statement. The article was new, but the fact of its novelty, which the President declared, was known to everyone who had taken the trouble to read the two documents. We were not left, however, without fitting explanation. The British delegation took it upon themselves to explain Article 21 at some length and this is what they said:

EXPLAINED BY BRITAIN.

"Article 21 makes it clear that the covenant is not intended to abrogate or weaken any other agreements, so long as they are consistent with its own terms, into which members of the league may have entered or may hereafter enter for the assurance of peace. Such agreements would include special treaties for compulsory arbitration and military conventions that are genuinely defensive.

The Monroe Doctrine and similar understandings are put in the same category. They have shown themselves in history to be not instruments of national ambition, but guarantees of peace. The origin of the Monroe Doctrine is well known. It was proclaimed in 1823 to prevent America from becoming a theatre for intrigues of European absolutism. At first a principle of American foreign policy, it has become an international understanding, and it is not illegitimate for the people of the United States to say that the covenant should recognize that fact.

"In its essence it is consistent with the spirit of the covenant, and, indeed, the principle of the league, as expressed in article 10, represent the extension to the whole world of the principles of the doctrine while, should any dispute as to the meaning of the latter ever arise between the American and European powers, the league is there to settle it."

The explanation of Great Britain received the assent of France.

It has seemed to me that the British delegation traveled a little out of the precincts of the peace conference when they undertook to explain the Monroe Doctrine and tell the United States what it was not proposed to do with it under the new article. That, however, is merely a matter of taste and judgment.

Let me now deal with the article itself. We have here some protective coloration again. The Monroe Doctrine is described as a "regional understanding," whatever that may mean. The boundaries between the States of the Union, I suppose, are "regional understandings" if anyone chooses to apply to them that somewhat swollen phraseology.

But the Monroe Doctrine is no more a regional understanding than it is an "international engagement." The Monroe Doctrine was a policy declared by President Monroe. Its immediate purpose was to shut out Europe from interfering with the South American republics, which the Holy Alliance designed to do. It was stated broadly, however, as we all know, and went much further than that. It was the corollary of Washington's declaration against our interfering in European questions. The United States has supported it. It has lived—strong, efficient, respected. It is now proposed to kill it by a provision in a treaty for a League of Nations.

The instant that the United States, who declared, interpreted, and sustained the doctrine, ceases to be the sole judge of what it means, that instant the Monroe Doctrine ceases and disappears from history and from the face of the earth. I think it is just as undesirable to have Europe interfere in American affairs now as Mr. Monroe thought it was in 1823, and equally undesirable that we should be compelled to involve ourselves in all the wars and brawls of Europe.

If we need authority to demonstrate what the Monroe doctrine has meant to the United States we can not do better than quote the words of Grover Cleveland, who directed Mr. Olney to notify the world that "today the United States is practically sovereign on this continent, and its fiat is law to which it confines its interposition." Theodore Roosevelt, in the last article written before his death, warned us, his countrymen, that we are "in honor bound to keep ourselves so prepared that the Monroe doctrine shall be accepted as immutable international law." Grover Cleveland was a Democrat and Theodore Roosevelt was a Republican, but they were both Americans.

RIGHT OF WITHDRAWAL.

Another point in this covenant where change must be made in order to protect the safety of the United States in the future is in Article 1, where withdrawal is provided for. This provision was an attempt to meet the very general objection to the first draft of the league, that there was no means of getting out of it without denouncing the treaty; that is, there was no arrangement for the withdrawal of any nation. As it now stands it reads that—

"Any member of the league may, after two years' notice of its intention to do so, withdraw from the league, provided that all its international obligations, and all its obligations under this covenant shall have been fulfilled at the time of its withdrawal."

The right of withdrawal is given by this clause, although the time for notice, two years, is altogether too long. Six months or a year would be found, I think, in most treaties to be the normal period fixed for notice of withdrawal.

But whatever virtue there may be in the right thus conferred is completely nullified by the proviso. The right of withdrawal cannot be exercised until all the international obligations and all the obligations of the withdrawing nations have been fulfilled. The league alone can decide whether "all international obligations and all obligations under this covenant" have been fulfilled, and this would require, under the provisions of the league, a unanimous vote, so that any naton desiring to withdraw could not do so, even on the two years' notice, if one nation voted that the obligations had not been fulfilled.

Remember that this gives the league not only power to review all our obligations under the covenant but all our treaties with all nations, for every one of those is an "international obligation."

Are we deliberately to put ourselves in fetters and be examined by the League of Nations as to whether we have kept faith with Cuba or Panama before we can be permitted to leave the league? This seems to me humiliating, to say the least.

I have dwelt only upon those points which seem to me most dangerous. There are, of course, many others, but these points, in the interest not only of the safety of the United States, but of the maintenance of the treaty and the peace of the world, should be dealt with here before it is too late. Once in the league the chance of amendment is so slight that it is not worth considering.

Those articles upon which the whole structure rests are articles which provide for the use of force; that is, for war. This league to enforce peace does a great deal for enforcement and very little for peace. It makes more essential provisions looking to war than to peace for the settlement of disputes.

Article 10 I have already discussed. There is no question that the preservation of a State against external aggression can contemplate nothing but war. In Article 11, again, the league is authorized to take any action which may be necessary to safeguard the peace of the world. "Any action" includes war. We also have specific provisions for a boycott, which is a form of economic warfare.

Taken altogether, these provisions for war present what to my mind is the gravest objection to this league in its present form. We are told that, of course, nothing will be done in the way of warlike acts without the assent of Congress. If that is true, let us say so in the covenant. But as it stands there is no doubt whatever in my mind that American troops and American ships may be ordered to any part of the world by nations other than the United States, and that is a proposition to which I for one can never assent.

It has been reiterated here on this floor and reiterated to the point of weariness that in every treaty there is some sacrifice of sovereignty. That is not a universal truth by any means, but it is true of some treaties and it is a platitude which does not require reiteration. The question and the only question before us here is how much of our sovereignty we are justified in sacrificing.

I am as anxious as any human being can be to have the United States render every possible service to the civilization and the peace of mankind, but I am certain we can do it best by not putting ourselves in leading strings or subjecting our policies and our sovereignty to other nations. The independence of the United States is not only more precious to ourselves but to the world than any single possession.

We are told that we shall "break the heart of the world" if we do not take this league just as it stands. I fear that the hearts of the vast majority of mankind would beat on strongly and steadily without any quickening if the league were to perish altogether. If it should be effectively and beneficently changed the people who would lie awake in sorrow for a single night could be easily gathered in one not very large room, but those who would draw a long breath of relief would reach to millions.

We hear much of visions, and I trust we shall continue to have visions and dream dreams of a fairer future for the race. But visions are one thing and visionaries are another, and the mechanical appliances of the rhetorician designed to give a picture of a present which does not exist and of a future which no man can predict are as unreal and shortlived as the steam or canvas clouds, the angels suspended on wires and the artificial lights of the stage. They pass with the moment of effect and are shabby and tawdry in the daylight. Let us at least be real. Washington's entire honesty of mind and his fearless look into the face of all facts are qualities which can never go out of fashion and which we should all do well to imitate.

Mabel McKinley--Niece of the Late President of the United States--Takes Nuxated Iron for Health and Strength

And Says She Regards It as The Ideal Tonic For All Weak, Run-Down Nervous Women

Dr. George H. Baker, Formerly Physician and Surgeon Monmouth Memorial Hospital of New Jersey, Explains Why Iron Is One of the GREATEST OF ALL STRENGTH BUILDERS.

Says: He has found nothing in his experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron.

Every woman who wishes to possess health, strength and beauty should carefully read the statement of Miss McKinley, who, after her personal use of Nuxated Iron, tells of the results she obtained.

Miss McKinley says: "While I had often heard of Nuxated Iron I must admit that prior to using it myself I had no idea of its remarkable value for building up the health and strength.

"Following the strain imposed by months of the most exacting work singing for the soldiers in the various army encampments, together with my social engagements and charitable pursuits, I found myself in such a weakened run-down state that I feared a complete collapse.

"It seemed utterly impossible for me to drop everything and go away for a complete rest, but I realized that as my condition was serious I must either do this or find something that would actually rebuild my waning strength and enable me to continue my activities.

"I had always been prejudiced against tonic preparations, which for the most part I found only acted as a temporary stimulant and usually left my system [illegible] than ever. However, when my own family physician insistently recommended that I give a fair trial to Nuxated Iron, I consented to begin its use, with a result that after a few days the weakness and exhaustion from which I suffered began to be replaced by a feeling of renewed strength and vitality. In less than three weeks' time my whole system was tingling with energy and power and I was overjoyed to find that I was once more in superb physical condition.

"Nuxated Iron has accomplished so much for me that I regard it as the ideal tonic for all weak, run-down women. As a strength, health and blood-builder, I am convinced Nuxated Iron has no equal."

In commenting on Miss McKinley's statement regarding the efficacy of Nuxated Iron, Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says: "It is my opinion that in practically nine times out of ten, unstrung nerves and failing strength and vitality are due to deficiency of iron in the blood. Many a woman who is run-down, nervous and who quickly tires out, suffers from iron deficiency and does not know it. I am convinced that there are thousands of such women who, simply by taking Nuxated Iron, might readily build up their red-blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves back to vibrant and vigorous health. By enriching the blood and increasing its oxygen-carrying power, Nuxated Iron will often transform the flabby flesh, toneless tissues, and pallid cheeks of nervous, run-down women into a glow of health, and make them look younger within a surprisingly short time."

Among other physicians asked for an opinion was Dr. George H. Baker, formerly Physician and Surgeon Monmouth Memorial Hospital, New Jersey, who says: "What women need to put roses in their cheeks and the springtime of life into their step is not cosmetics or stimulating drugs, but plenty of rich, pure blood. Without it no woman can do credit to herself or to her work. Iron is one of the greatest of all strength and blood-builders, and I have found nothing in my experience so effective for helping to make strong, healthy, red-blooded women as Nuxated Iron."

MANUFACTURER'S NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is recommended above by physicians, is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products, it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.

Miss McKinley has a voice of unusual quality and it was following her work singing for the soldiers that she became weakened and run-down and had recourse to Nuxated Iron. Once more in superb physical condition, Miss McKinley says she is convinced that Nuxated Iron has no equal as a Strength, Health and Blood-Builder.

WARNING!

All members of the Actors' Equity Association are personally liable for all damages and losses to the Managers caused by the strike.

DO NOT BE MISLED—CONSULT YOUR OWN LAWYER.

Attention is called to the following letter sent by Mr. Nathan Burkan to the Actors' Equity Association; copy of which was transmitted to Mr. John L. Golden by Mr. Burkan.

Mr. Frank Gillmore, Executive Secretary, Actors' Equity Association, New York City: August 10, 1919.

My dear Mr. Gillmore—My attention was called last night to a list of your membership, in which was included my name as a life member.

In view of the strike called against the enterprises managed by my clients, Messrs. Winchell Smith and John Golden and Charles Dillingham respectively, and in view of the action of the organizers of the strike in wilfully bringing about the breaking by members of your association of contracts of service existing with Messrs. Smith and Golden and Dillingham, respectively, which have long periods to run, and particularly in view of the fact that Messrs. Smith and Golden and Dillingham, respectively, have at all times and on all occasions treated their players with the utmost consideration, justice and fairness, as the striking players as well as all other players associated with them will admit, and against whom the players can have no legitimate grievance, I must insist that my name be forthwith stricken from your membership roll.

The action of the organizers of the strike in knowingly and wilfully ordering players under written contracts of employment with these managers to leave their employers and break up their attractions, manifests an utter and wilful disregard not only of law and order, but of the welfare of your membership, as well as of the rights of these managers, and it also betrays crass stupidity on the part of the officers of your association in permitting such acts to be committed.

Let me call your attention to the decision of the Appellate Division of this Department in the case of Grassi Contracting Co. v. Bennett, 174 A. D., page 249, where the court held that

It is not lawful to call a strike, the result of which will be the violation of contracts of its members with their employers; and the United States Supreme Court, in Hitchman Coal & Coke Co. v. Mitchell, 245 U. S., page 229, held that a combination to procure concerted breaches of contract by plaintiff's employees is as plainly unlawful as if it involved a breach of the peace.

In that case the members of a union were enjoined from inducing or seeking to induce the plaintiff's employees from violating their contracts of employment. The Court, in protecting those contracts, said, at page 251:

"Plaintiff, having in the exercise of its undoubted rights, established a working agreement between it and its employees, with the free assent of the latter, is entitled to be protected in the enjoyment of the resulting status, as in any other legal right. That the employment was at will and terminable by either party at any time is of no consequence."

"The right of action for persuading an employee to leave his employer is universally recognized."

Applying this principle to the facts involved in the strike, the strike organizers, the officers of the Actors' Equity Association, and its membership, were and are guilty of unlawful acts in directing, inducing, persuading or coercing players under contractual relations with managers to strike, to break their contract, and not to play at scheduled performances. The contract need not be for any specific period (although I know of my own personal knowledge that a great many of the contracts are for long terms, and some have a two weeks' notice clause).

In justice to the many players who are members of the association and who do not realize the consequences of the acts of the organizers of the strike, and the officers of the association, in permitting the organizers to commit the acts which the courts have pronounced illegal, let me call your attention to the famous Danbury Hatters' case, known as Lawlor v. Loewe, 235 U. S., 522.

In that case the members of a labor union attempted to compel a hat manufacturer to unionize his factory, left his employment and prevented others from taking employment therein, and with the assistance of members of affiliated organizations declared a "boycott" on his goods. The court held that all the members of the labor union who paid their dues were jointly liable with the officers of the union for the damages sustained by their acts. It is not essential that each member of the Union should have knowledge of the details of the action proposed to be taken by the strike organizers and the officers of the Union.

The court said, on page 529:

"The individual members are liable as principals for what their officers did in the performance of their duty, even though they did not know of the particular acts done, or may have disapproved of or have forbidden it."

In that case the plaintiff recovered a judgment for $222,000.00, and many of the members of the Union had their bank accounts attached, their property sold at public sale under execution, and many were obliged to pay whatever they had, to make good the damage.

The damages in such cases are not apportioned, but each member is liable individually and collectively for the entire damage done, and if he has sufficient property, he must make good the entire damage.

It is beyond dispute now that very serious damage has been inflicted upon a number of managers by the closing of their theatres. The damages are not speculative, because the managers will be entitled to recover for moneys refunded by them to patrons who were deprived of the opportunity to see the attraction, moneys paid as rent for the theatre while it remained dark, moneys paid to employees who had to be laid off in consequence of the strike, moneys paid for advertising, current expenses, and possible losses wherever they can be established.

The resulting damage of this strike may run into millions of dollars, and all those players who have contracts with Managers as well as the officers and strike organizers, and the individual members of this association, though they did not participate in or had any knowledge of the strike, may, within a short period of time, find themselves involved in a serious predicament. By the action of the organizers of the strike and the officers of your association, the life savings of many players have already been jeopardized.

I think it is your duty to at once direct all players who have walked out in breach of their contracts to return and to minimize the damage as far as possible.

This letter is written, not with the idea of giving you advice, but simply to justify my action.

Very truly yours,

NATHAN BURKAN.

Mr. Howard Kyle, founder of the Actors' Equity Association, who for more than six years served as a member of its Counsel and in other capacities without remuneration, has resigned from the Actors' Equity Association. In connection with his resignation Mr. Kyle sent the following letter to Mr. E. H. Sothern who has also since resigned from the Actors' Equity Association:

New York, August 5th, 1919.

Dear Sothern:

I am sorry I didn't get a word to you before you were induced to send a letter to the Actors' Equity Association, approving the course its officers and council have wrong-headedly taken. For once the managers are right in their stand. They have recognized the Actors' Equity Association as an organization and they invited its representatives to meet them and make a mutual agreement for the uniform adoption and use of an improved form of the United Managers' Protective Association-Actors' Equity Association contract to cover a period of three or five years. Each manager in the new producing Managers' Protective Association (and it includes practically all of them) is under a bond by which he would forfeit $10,000 if he breached any agreement made by his organization. That is any agreement like that of the adoption of a uniform standard contract. This was the very situation, or should I say consummation, toward which the Actors' Equity Association has been aiming for six years. Some of the radicals misapprehended the spirit of co-operation that possessed the managers and attributed their action to motives of fear; thereupon an utterly foolish and unnecessary ultimatum was issued concerning extra performances, which were made to include legal holiday matinees and Sunday appearances. The arbitrary action was taken despite insistent warnings I made to the Counsel of its ill advisedness. The aggression came, you see, from our side when the managers were in an amenable state of mind and actually willing, as they are now, to stand for a clause by which all salaries shall be reckoned by the performance.

In order to save their own faces our representatives proposed publicly that the whole matter of a contract be given to an outside Board of Arbitration, thus trying to embarrass the managers. As I openly predicted, the managers said there was nothing to arbitrate and they have proceeded to use the standard contract United Managers' Protective Association-Actors' Equity Association, changing only the clause as to how any issue may be arbitrated; meanwhile poor men and women who are actually working under equitable conditions are forced to strike as the result of the bad leadership of our association.

It is important to remember that the accepted Actors' Equity Association-United Managers' Protective Association contract was actually drawn up in the first instance by the Actors' Equity Association itself, and the clauses consenting to play Sunday night performances and legal holiday matinees were put into this contract by the actors themselves. The changes now demanded, therefore, constitute additions to our own contract, which we have proclaimed as equitable all over the world. No one has ever pretended that the contract, which is a minimum one, is the best that might be secured, and it is only fair to recall that Mr. Marc Klaw, President of the United Managers' Protective Association, spoke at the ratification supper in November, 1917, saying: "This is a history-making occasion, but the contract as it stands is only a beginning."

(Signed) Yours very truly,

HOWARD KYLE.

ICEMEN EVADE ORDERS, SAY LAWRENCE WOMEN

Lawrence, Aug. 12.—Charges that the Lawrence ice dealers are evading the orders of the Massachusetts commission on the necessaries of life in compelling ice users to pay more than 75 cents per hundred pounds, are now in the hands of the Department of Justice and criminal procedure may soon figure in the local ice muddle.

Dealers are said to be extorting extra nickels and dimes out of the housewife for "extra weight" and "upstairs" service, according to complaints being received by the authorities.

CARNEGIE HOPED TO DIE WITHOUT HIS WEALTH

Will Is Awaited with Interest; Many New Gifts May Be Disclosed

in Lenox. Aside from the members of his family and immediate circle of household attaches, who mourned him most.

Andrew Carnegie had few acquaintances among the regular residents of this quiet community. Almost from the day he came here, in 1917, to make his summer home, he had been in poor health. Because of his condition he saw few if any people at all save those who came up from New York and those who had business with him.

The shopkeepers knew little of him; the folks of the village comparatively nothing. His secretary and others of his household were well known, but Andrew Carnegie himself was in no condition to go about the town and make friends.

Despite this lack of knowing there are those who sorrow, for the iron master had come among them as a man of deeds. His reputation had come before him and it will live long after his remains have been interred in Tarrytown. The town knew of his ambition to die a poor man.

HOW MUCH IS LEFT?

This morning at the Hotel Curtis an old man from the hills who came in to peddle his truck remarked that a great and good man had gone on. He, too, knew of Carnegie's desire to die poor, and believed in him for the humanitarian that he was.

People here look at the total of his gifts and wonder just how much more remains to be disposed of. From Washington came the announcement that Mr. Carnegie's gifts had reached the amazing total of $350,695,653 up to July 1.

They wondered if in the will all that remains goes to charity; or if, perchance, the self-made man had given it to his daughter, Mrs. Roswell Miller, who was Marguerite Carnegie until April 23 last.

Today Mrs. Carnegie, with Mrs. Miller and members of the household staff, are within the great mansion with all that is mortal of Mr. Carnegie. Mr. Miller and Mrs. Carnegie's secretary, A. E. Barrows, are in New York completing arrangements for the interment of the body some time Thursday or Friday.

Throngs of curious are walking up the road leading to the private avenue with the hope of seeing something about the house and grounds. Their wishes seem destined to disappointment, for all is quiet about the immense estate. Blinds are drawn, and save for an occasional messenger laden with telegrams expressing grief all was quiet within the broad confines of Shadowbrook.

Today the great mansion which Anson Phelps Stokes erected and which Mr. Carnegie purchased in 1917 is of mausoleum aspect. Those within are sorrowing, and they ask to be alone. It is Mrs. Carnegie's wish that as much privacy be allowed the family now as is possible.

Funeral services will be held at Shadow Brook, the ironmaster's Summer home, Thursday morning at 11 o'clock. The services will be simple, and attended only by members of his family and household. There will be no church services in New York. Rev. Benson J. Wyman, pastor of the Lenox Congregational Church, and Rev. William Pierson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church of New York, of which Mr. Carnegie was a member, will officiate.

The body will be taken by train to Sleepy Hollow, N. Y., where the "Laird of Skibo" years ago bought a lot, and where he had ordered that his body be laid to rest.

HISTORIC CEMETERY.

The Sleepy Hollow cemetery at the southern end of Tarrytown lies near the road along which the terrifying "headless horseman" of Irving's story pursued the schoolmaster, Ichabod Crane. The little brook that found its way into the story goes tumbling through the graveyard beneath the shade of great trees.

The Carnegie plot of land was purchased a few years ago. It is in what is called the "new part" of the cemetery to distinguish it from the old section that contains the remains of many notables of the Revolutionary days, as well as some later day kings of finance.

The bodies of John D. Archbold, the Standard Oil president, and Carl Schurz, the German-American leader, are buried in Sleepy Hollow, and William Rockefeller and many other persons of prominence have burial plots there.

Here in Lenox are those who say that Andrew Carnegie died with a disappointment other than that which accompanied his inability to dispose of his immense wealth. He had hoped to once more visit Skibo Castle, in Dunfermline, Scotland, ere he died. In fact he hoped to make that visit earlier this year. However, a government regulation which forbade his taking his usual staff of servants and household attaches over with him, sent him to Lenox instead. The regulations would allow but one automobile and a chauffeur, whereas he wanted to go with his full retinue.

FISHING HIS ONE SPORT.

Carnegie came to Lenox in May, and with his Scottish love of the open he and Mark Bourne immediately set out on their excursions. From that day on there came stories of the catches he landed. And always Mark Bourne dilated on his ability as a nimrod and his patience when they were not biting.

Serious Loss to Forces of Humanity, Says Wilson on Death of Carnegie

Washington, Aug. 12.—President Wilson today sent a message of condolence to Mrs. Andrew Carnegie, widow of the philanthropist.

"May I not express my deep sympathy at the loss of your distinguished husband?" the President wrote. "His death constitutes a very serious loss to the forces of humanity and enlightened public service and takes out of the world a force which it could ill afford to spare."

THEATRES

'DREAM STARS' HEAD BILL AT KEITHS

"Dream Stars," introduced with song and music by Charles King, heads an excellent vaudeville bill at Keith's Theatre this week.

The "dream stars" are girl stage favorites of the days gone by. From the depths of a piano back of the stage on a raised platform first comes the little Japanese Geisha girl, next the bashful country lass, then the girl from [illegible], with her queer dancing costume, next the lively drummer girl and then the haughty artist's model with her naughty blue transparent gown.

Bringing the "memories" up to date a "jazz girl" leaps from an elaborate setting, brilliantly lighted. Then all the "dream stars" become up-to-date "jazz girls," and the music hums with the clash and bang of the jazz. The "dream stars" are Una Fleming, Lucille Chalfant, Aileen Poe and Marie Hollywell.

Running a close second on the program are the Mosconi Brothers and Company. Their odds and ends of dancing prove a rare treat. Mosconi Brothers are up to their usual form, especially the brother who performs the rapid-fire dances. The Mosconi Brothers were applauded to the echo last evening.

For music Julia Kelety, the charming French songstress, has some stirring war-time songs. Miss Kelety's song of the little French girl who captured the hearts of the American regiment in Flanders was a clever bit of work.

Moss and Frye, the black-face comedians, who have long been trying to solve such questions as "How high is up?" keep the audience in an uproar while they are before the footlights.

Then there is Howard Langford and Anna Fredricks in "Shopping." It's a story of a traveling salesman in a lingerie shop suddenly confronted by a woman customer. Mr. Langford has several songs and the banter between Langford and Miss Fredricks has a laugh almost in every line.

Togan and Geneva offer some clever mid-air tight wire dancing; the Belle sisters have a good song and dance revuette and Charles Irwin has an abundant list of songs and stories. The Kinograms—moving pictures of current events—are augmented by some humorous topics of the day.

Other Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE—The material of combined vaudeville and motion pictures at Loew's Orpheum Theatre this week is of unusual excellence. Appearing on the bill are Will H. Armstrong, a big favorite with Boston audiences, in his latest and unquestionably most amusing playlet, entitled "A Ten Thousand Dollar Ankle." In the sketch Mr. Armstrong is assisted by Maudie Smith. Conroy and O'Donnell, who present "The Parcel Postman"; Brown, Gardiner and Barnett in a revue of catchy songs and dances; Newell and Most, in a joyful melange of harmony, music and laughter; Brown's dogs and others. In the list of photoplay features the headline number offers Enid Bennett in "The Virtuous Thief."

MODERN AND BEACON THEATRES—Two of the most popular motion picture actresses of the day are shown at the Modern and Beacon Theatres this week. Pauline Frederick is said to be the most versatile actress of the stage or screen—and in her latest production, "The Peace of Roaring River," she still further proves this fact.

Ethel Clayton, in "A Sporting Chance," enacts the role of a girl who acts on the impulse of the moment—but seldom meets with disappointment. Her greatest and wildest impulse is to reform a convict who is supposed to have escaped from prison.

LOEW'S COLUMBIA THEATRE—The program at Loew's Theatre, with its daily changes, include numerous topliners. Exhibitions for today include Evelyn Nesbit in "A Fallen Idol," and Viola Dana in "The Only Road." Wednesday and Thursday promise that wonderful success, "The Firing Line," featuring Irene Castle, the world's best-known dancer. Bryant Washburn, in "Putting It Over," will also be included on this bill.

LOEW'S GLOBE THEATRE—Charming Enid Bennett is appearing at the Globe Theatre the first half of this week, in "The Virtuous Thief," which is one of the greatest successes and in which she is given every opportunity to display her histrionic powers.

"The Girl Alaska," with an all-star cast is also presented, together with the latest of Mrs. Drew's comedies, "Title Later."

For the concluding portion of the week, Charlie Ray will be shown in "Bill Henry," a story that will please the most fastidious. It has been conceded that no one can compete with Charlie Ray in "rube" parts, and still further proof of this fact is given in "Bill Henry."

Plays That Remain

TREMONT THEATRE—Henry W. Savage's newest musical comedy "See-Saw," began the second week of its engagement at the Tremont Theatre last evening. There is no gainsaying the fact that this is a real hit and has started the new season at this most popular of local houses most auspiciously.

MAJESTIC THEATRE—The third successful week of the film portrayal of Eugene Brieux's famous drama "Damaged Goods," began last night at the Majestic Theatre, where it is being shown twice daily to crowded houses. Thinking people who are interested in social problems of the day should not miss this powerful drama dealing with an intensely vital question.

TREMONT TEMPLE—"Our Mary" still reigns supreme at Tremont Temple in her most attractive production, that of "Daddy Long Legs," in which she is appearing twice daily, playing to delighted audiences.

At the Parks

PARAGON PARK — Lieutenant Mark C. Hogue and his fellow aviators are holding spellbound the huge throngs that are visiting Paragon Park to view the spectacular battles in the air, parachute drops and other death-defying stunts these daring birdmen pull off every afternoon and evening.

NORUMBEGA PARK—Norumbega Park with its many attractions still remains the Mecca of pleasure seekers. This week the theatre offers to its patrons a production of "Lena Rivers," which many of the older theatre goers will remember as an old-time classic. To the younger people this play will be a delightful surprise, and it is expected that the Liberty Players will be well received in the revival of this pleasing drama.

PEMBERTON INN—If you want a really good dinner among the most pleasant surroundings imaginable take a trip down to Pemberton Inn, the most popular dining place on the South Shore. Very few places along the coast of Massachusetts have as beautiful a situation and so many tempting attractions as this justly famous inn.

CLAIMS JITNEY LIGHTS DAZZLE STREET CARMEN

Lawrence, Aug. 12.—Superintendent John M. Hayes of the Bay State Street Railway challenges the statements made to the police by citizens relative to violation of the law on headlights by the street railway.

Superintendent Hayes says that the offence is rather the jitney men who ply between here and Lowell. He charges that the drivers of jitneys fail to give the street car motormen a square deal, and often show fight when motormen ask that the blinding lights be dimmed. An investigation now is going on concerning the glare law violations and wholesale arrests are being made here and in the adjacent towns.

Holden Pastor Resigns

Holden, Aug. 12.—The Rev. George E. Cary, pastor of the Congregational Church, has tendered his resignation to become effective September 21.

OPERETTA AT PLYMOUTH PLEASES

An English version of "Adele," a French operetta in three acts by Paul Herve and Jean Briquet, is the offering of Carl Hunt and his stock company at the Plymouth Theatre this week. The English version was prepared by Adolph Phillip and Edward A. Paulton, and staged under the personal supervision of Carl Hunt.

The song numbers are numerous and rendered fairly well by the vocalists of the company. The successful "putting over" of the production can be credited to Irving Beebe, John Norton, Myrtle Jersey and Al Roberts. Others are to be complimented for their efforts.

The production suffers greatly from the effects of a limited rehearsal. At times it appeared as if the piece was going to fall flat.

The comedy of the piece is good—mighty good—thanks to the efforts of Al Roberts and his running mate, John Norton, both playing as rival merchants. It came spontaneously and put life into the whole production. The song numbers, too, did much to attain that end, especially "Adele," "Paris," "Good-by" and "Close Your Eyes."

The plot is clever and the efforts of the stock company were appreciated by a large audience.

SNAPPY BILLS FEATURE AT HOME TOWN THEATRES

The latest and best screen dramas and comedies will be found at the following home town picture theatres:

BRIGHTON THEATRE, BRIGHTON—Presents for the first half of this week a bill of all-star features and comedies and other interesting pictures that make a good program.

CENTRAL SQUARE THEATRE, EAST BOSTON—Has for the week an all-star bill of variety pictures and the latest comedies.

RUNAWAY TEAM DRAGS DRIVER DOWN MOUNTAIN

North Adams, Aug. 12.—William Lewis, thirty-seven, of Adams, driver for the Hoosick Falls Lumber Company, was dragged down Hoosick mountain by a pair of runaway horses. At the foot of the mountain the wagon to which the horses were hitched passed over both his legs.

The left leg was amputated below the knee and the right foot probably will have to be amputated later.

EMBARGO MAY CLOSE SOME LAWRENCE MILLS

Lawrence, Aug. 12.—At least a partial shutdown of the mills of this city will result from the freight embargo which is now being keenly felt in this city. The Arlington Mills are hard hit.

No shipments can be made and the mill products are already overcrowding the storehouses in all of the plants. If the embargo is not lifted at once at least three mills will be obliged to shut down, is the statement of a prominent man in industrial circles. Some of the mills are affected by the curtailment of incoming shipments as well as outgoing. A temporary layoff of some departments is contemplated in the downtown mills.

GOT YOUR EXTRA ARMY TRAVEL PAY YET?

Thousands of Service Men Fail to Claim It, Says Zone Finance Officer

The second of the series of signed articles by Colonel P. L. Smith, zone finance officer of the War Department, deals with the procedure relating to the payment of the additional travel allowance for enlisted men authorized by Congress.

Up to date 70,000 of these claims have been audited and paid. This is also a task in which the Soldiers' Service Bureau of the associated Hearst newspapers has directly aided the Washington authorities, not only by disseminating information as to procedure but by furnishing the necessary official forms and personally advising and assisting thousands of soldiers in filling them out.

By COLONEL P. L. SMITH.

Zone Finance Officer.

Written exclusively for publication in connection with the Soldiers' Service Bureau of the Hearst newspapers.

The additional travel allowance given to enlisted men, by Act of Congress approved February 28, 1919, providing for 5 cents a mile travel pay from their point of discharge to points of induction into the service or to their bona fide home, at the option of the soldier, fell to this office to settle.

This act provided that it was payable only to men who were discharged since November 11, 1918, date of the signing of the armistice. This, of course, reduced the number of claims from the greater number handled as bonus claims and it was estimated that there would probably be about one-half a million of such claims submitted and preparations were made in securing supplies to handle this number.

TRAINED SELECTED STAFF.

The enlisted men who were discharged subsequent to November 11, 1918, and before February 28, 1919, were paid by submitting claims to the Zone Finance Office for the amounts of additional travel pay due them.

Every claim had to be figured as regards distance from the point of discharge to the point of induction or to the bona fide home, and the amount already paid the claimant at the time of discharge had to be taken into consideration. This work in computing distances is rather intricate in character and required specially trained personnel that was not available. Fortunately, sufficient time was given the office to train personnel and a school was established for this purpose, in which about 300 clerks were placed where they worked for more than a month preparing to handle the actual cases when submitted.

CLAIMS COME SLOWLY.

The work of paying the travel claims has been current since payment commenced. This is caused by the fact that the personnel was trained before the claims were received, and also by the rather disappointing fact that the claims are not being received as rapidly as it was contemplated they would be submitted. The receipts of such claims average about 1,000 daily and the payments the same.

It is not always possible to pay a claim as promptly as it is desired when the soldier claims a bona fide home other than that shown as point of enlistment or point of induction on his discharge certificate. In such cases it is necessary to refer to the service record in the office of the Adjutant-General. Such service records are not always immediately available.

FEW FALSE CLAIMS.

On certain claims, where an examination of the service record discloses a different point as the bona fide home from that claimed by the soldier, this office is without authority to pay and must refer such claims to the Auditor for the War Department for settlement, in all such claims, the claimant being advised of the action taken.

Fortunately, there are but few such claims and in ninety per cent. of the cases submitted, full settlement is possible by this office.

In this connection the Soldiers' Service Bureau of the Boston American and associated Hearst newspapers have rendered important aid in the dissemination of correct information data and by furnishing soldiers with the proper official forms all of which has tended to facilitate our work.

FOUR SET BARN ON FIRE WITH BLAZING GASOLINE

North Attleboro, Aug. 12.—Edgar L. Gay, who waived examination when arraigned on a charge of arson last week, together with William Hill, Donald McLean and John Quinn, has made a confession in the district court here that in company with the other defendants he set fire to the barn of John J. Flaherty on the morning of July 1.

The flames spread to the adjoining homestead and Flaherty, with six other members of the family, were rescued with difficulty.

Gay testified that Hill gave him money to buy gasoline and that after purchasing it they all went to the barn, where it was poured over the floor. Then they all threw matches into the barn and ran away. As a result of the confession the three were held for the grand jury under $2,000 bonds each.

Live Fox Appreciates His New Duties As Neckpiece

San Francisco, Aug. 12.—A pretty live fox for a neckpiece.

Thus arrayed, Miss Florence Waters, of this city, created no little stir as she strolled down Powell street.

"Foxy" circled his furry body about the neck of his new mistress, smiling gracefully and apparently with delight.

The little animal was captured by Dr. George D. Scott. Miss Waters says that the combination pet and neckfur is far better than any other neckpiece she ever owned.

"Foxy keeps quite still when about my neck," she said. "He seems to know this is what he should do. He answers to his [illegible]."

"ALIBIS" ORIGINAL, BUT INEFFECTIVE

Cleveland, O., Aug. 12.—"I appreciate originality, but you'll have to frame a better story than that," commented Judge Selzer, when Gustave [illegible], arraigned for violating the traffic law, told His Honor that two men held him up and poured whiskey down his throat.

Joseph Skiarski told the judge his machine just wouldn't behave after he took copious doses of a [illegible] medicine. "That sounds plausible but I'm growing skeptical," said the judge. Both drew fines and jail sentences.

FLOGGING YARN AT SCHOOL TO BE PROBED

Attorney-General Young Will Investigate Charges at Manchester, N. H.

Manchester, N. H., Aug. 12.—There will be an investigation of the charges of flogging at the industrial school at Manchester.

It is understood that the trustees will not take part as prosecutors, it being left to the attorney general to secure evidence of flogging, if that be possible, or to receive complaints from any party desiring to make them.

Dr. Wilkins' Ghost in Flat; Landlord Raises Rent

New York, Aug. 12.—The ghost of Dr. Walter Wilkins, who committed suicide in his cell at the Nassau county jail, Mineola, following his conviction in the first degree of the murder of his wife, is stalking abroad, according to Mrs. Gladys Besson.

Mrs. Besson complained against the raising of the rent on her flat, which was owned by Mrs. Wilkins, saying that she was compelled to raise her umbrella to keep off the moisture which drops from the ceiling, and that the ghost of Dr. Wilkins prowled about her home.

COMET NOT TERROR OF OLD

McLoughlin's Tennis Sound, But Not the Smashing Sort He Played in 1914

By FRED B. ALEXANDER.

The opening day of the Intersectional matches for the doubles championships of the United States provided, if not the best of that type of game, at least some of the most spectacular. Two matches were played, the luck of the draw throwing two California teams and two Eastern teams against each other.

The McLoughlin - Bundy - Davis - Johns match was the more interesting on account of the return of the former pair to championship play after a lapse of four years. To go into this match carefully and analyze it is not difficult. Davis undoubtedly was the best of the four. His service was severe and well placed, and though he made many errors off the ground he more than made up for it by his hard volleying and good overhead work.

JOHNS AT FAULT.

Throughout the first two sets Johns' double faults proved the undoing of his team. It can be said that McLoughlin was not the McLoughlin of 1914, but at that his game was sound and his overhead smashing, though not that of his prime, was far above the average. Bundy, as usual, was steady, but he has suffered on his overhead work. These errors played a conspicuous part in the triumph of McLoughlin and Bundy at [illegible], 7—9, 6—4. Their opponents must have lost at least a dozen points from leaving openings through which the ball could be placed. Much lobbing was indulged in by both sides during the match.

The Williams-Washburn-Kumagae-Throckmorton match was a slam bang affair, with many spectacular shots and an unusual number of outs and nets, which were inexcusable, wedged in between brilliantly played points. The first set was rather slow, Williams and Washburn having just the edge enough to win out. The last three sets were full of fine tennis from the spectators' standpoint and also from what the expert would call good doubles, the second set and fourth and last one being filled with the fastest kind of volleys and ground strokes.

COMPARISON UNFAIR.

To pick out one man who stood out above the rest would be unfair to the others. It may be said that Washburn and Kumagae bore the brunt of the defense while Williams and Throckmorton were the 42-centimeter guns, but little lobbing was used with a result that the points were finished either one way or the other promptly. The team work on both sides was [illegible]. In fact Throckmorton and Kumagae showed none at all but the former played really brilliant and good singles on the double court.

The test of the Australian teams was due to come today, when Brookes and Patterson meet Williams and Washburn and Lycett and Thomas clash with Alexander and Voshell. The Australians practiced among themselves after the matches and, though evidently taking it very easy, showed they were gradually getting into form.

SCITUATE TOWN TEAM DOWNS BEACON 5 TO 4

The Beacons, considered one of the fastest semi-pro teams in the State, was defeated by the strong Scituate town team at Scituate, 5 to 4.

The game was one of the best ever played on the south shore.

Brainard's hitting and pitching for Scituate and Mahoney's work for the Beacons featured.

Batteries—[illegible], Brainard and Walker; Beacons, Rice and Mahoney.

MEDFORD NINE TO PLAY ALLIED VETS

Jack Gillis' Medford ball nine will line up against the Allied Vets' team on the Fulton Street Grounds, Medford, next Saturday afternoon. Both teams have been playing rattling ball of late, which was proven by the victory of the Medford Club team over the U. S. Shipping Board aggregation last Saturday, when the Vets also were victorious down in Brockton.

Sunday Golf Test Case to Be Taken to Court

The legality of Sunday golf is to be tested in court, according to an agreement reached by officials of the Massachusetts Golf Association and Chief Plunkett of the State police. An arrest of some player, yet to be selected, is to be made next Sunday and every effort will be made to carry the case, no matter what the decision of the lower courts may be, as expeditiously as possible to the Supreme Court. Meanwhile there will be no interference by the State police with any who choose to play golf on the Lord's Day.

BOXER AND REFEREE MIX; POLICE HALT THE BOUT

New Bedford, Aug. 12.—The police were obliged to interfere at the conclusion of the main bout between Frankie Daley of New York and Frankie Fay of Brooklyn to stop an impromptu battle between the former and the referee, Patsy Downey. Daley, who had loafed the most of the bout and allowed Fay to pile up a fair lead on points, made a whirlwind finish in the final round. Downey called the bout a draw, and Daley swung for the referee's jaw. The latter retaliated with several blows. Then the police took a hand.

Young Benny of Newport knocked out Young McFarland of this city in the second round of one of the preliminary bouts. In the other preliminary Young Brown of Newport defeated Young Melody of this city in six rounds.

LEVINSKY WINNER OVER CLAY TURNER

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 12.—Battling Levinsky won by a large margin over Clay Turner, the Indian fighter, in an eight-round bout here. It was Levinsky's fight from the tap of the gong in the first round.

AUSTRALIANS IN DOUBLES TODAY

Brooks and Patterson Meet Williams and Washburn in Longwood Feature

With Norman E. Brooks and Gerald L. Patterson, the famous Australian tennis stars, scheduled to meet R. Norris Williams, 2d, and Watson M. Washburn in the feature match, the second round of the national doubles championships on the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club at Chestnut Hill today was expected to bring out a gallery that would pack the stands.

Second in importance among today's matches was that scheduled between Fred B. Alexander and S. H. Voshell of New York, holders of the tri-State sectional title, and Randolph Lycett and R. V. Thomas of Australia.

C. B. Doyle and F. H. Harris, who hail from Washington and Brattleboro, Vt., respectively, and who annexed the middle Atlantic States sectional tournament, are scheduled to clash with Maurice E. McLoughlin and Tom Bundy, the Los Angeles pair, who have the Pacific coast title as their credentials for participation in the National meeting.

PROBABLE SEMI-FINALISTS.

Lycett and Thomas, Brookes and Patterson, McLoughlin and Bundy and Johnston and Griffin are favored to come through to the semi-finals, which will be played tomorrow. This will, of course, bring the two Australian teams together in the upper bracket, and those who have watched them practice say that Brookes and Patterson should win their way to the final. In the lower half the dopesters say that Johnston and Griffin will make easy work of the Comet and Tom Bundy, so the forecast for Thursday's final seems to place Brookes and Patterson against Johnston and Griffin—and that will be a match worth traveling many furlongs to see.

Williams and Washburn, who captured the New England title on the Chestnut Hill courts two weeks ago, won their way into the second round by defeating Harold Throckmorton of Elizabeth, N. J., and Ichiya Kumagae of Japan, the Middle States champs, in four hard-fought sets. The score was 6—4, 3—6, 6—1, 6—1. The match was full of thrills and kept the gallery on edge from beginning to end. Williams, the idol of the Longwood Club, was not at his best. He has not been, it may be added, since he left the army.

WILLIAMS OFF FORM.

Williams netted and outed more than Washburn, but on the other hand, his play was more spectacular and won more frequent applause. His service was going fairly well. Kumagae was at his best—the best that put R. Lindley Murray, the American champion, out of the running in the singles last week at Newport. The rapidity with which the Jap covered the court was marvelous, and had Throckmorton been a little stronger in the pinches the result might have been different. The point score:

FIRST SET.
Williams and Washburn—
1 1 4 1 1 4 4 0 4—30—6
Kumagae and Throckmorton—
4 1 2 1 4 1 6 2 4 1—26—4
SECOND SET.
Williams and Washburn—
2 3 5 4 0 4 1 2 4—27—3
Kumagae and Throckmorton—

THIRD SET.
Williams and Washburn—
4 1 4 5 6 4 4—28—6
Kumagae and Throckmorton—
2 1 2 3 4 2 1—20—1
FOURTH SET.
Williams and Washburn—
1 2 1 4 4 4 3 4 4 4 2 8 7 5—51—8
Kumagae and Throckmorton—
4 4 4 1 2 6 5 1 8 2 4 4 5 3—45—6

McLoughlin and Bundy had to go their hardest to defeat Willard Davis and H. Van Dyke Johns, another California team, who hold the western sectional title. McLoughlin is still heavy on the court, but he managed to place his terrific smashes with more accuracy than he showed last week at Newport. He also did some pretty work in outguessing his opponents. Driving them into the back court, all set for a smash, he would ease over a soft one that barely cleared the net, dropping about two feet on the other side.

BUNDY'S GAME STEADY.

Bundy played a steady and consistently good game but seldom showed signs of brilliancy. Willis Davis won most of the gallery's appreciation for the losers. He frequently resorted to lobbing tactics to get his opponents into the back court, and then put over a cross court placement, or shot through them. Johns obviously was having an off day. Almost one-fourth of the games played went to deuce.

The point score:

FIRST SET
McLoughlin and Bundy 2 4 4 3 4 4 3 1 4—33—6
Davis and Johns 4 0 2 0 2 1 0 5 4 1—22—4
SECOND SET
McLoughlin and Bundy 4 4 4 5 4 4 5 2 0 4 4 0 2 4 5 4—53—7
Davis and Johns 6 2 1 3 1 6 5 4 1 0 2 4 4 2 3 1—48—9
THIRD SET.
McLoughlin and Bundy 3 4 2 4 2 5 1 4 5 2—32—4

McLoughlin and Bundy 3 4 1 4 8 4 5 7 2 4—37—6
Davis and Johns 5 2 4 2 5 2 3 5 4 0—32—4

RULES FOR DEPARTMENT.

Considering the tendency of the gallery at the last Longwood tourney play, much as if they were at a baseball game, and to make remarks reflecting upon the accuracy of vision and mental capacity of the linesmen and umpires when close decisions were made, or to root lustily for their favorites, the committee has had printed on the back of the programs the following paragraphs from the National Tennis Umpires' Association manual.

"Do not applaud or give vocal expression of your feelings while a rally is on, but wait until a point has been played and then applaud all you want to.

"Do not applaud errors; your approval should be given to good strokes only. Do not applaud a shot that goes out of the court or into the net, even if it gives a point to the player whom you wish to win.

Britt Proves His Class by Defeating Brady

By JACK CONWAY.

Frankie (Young) Britt proved once more he is the class of the New England lightweights when he defeated Ralph Brady of Syracuse in a torrid twelve-round conflict at the Fenway A. A. The New Bedford youth showed all of his former skill and was out front by a comfortable margin when festivities ended.

There was a certain element in the audience who did not approve of Referee Jerry Moore's decision. They permitted sentiment to get the better of their judgment.

Britt not only won the contest on points, but the referee could have awarded him the decision a dozen times on a foul. Brady was guilty of serious infractions of the rules. He brought his left knee up at least ten times when Britt had him backed against the ropes. He used the back hand punch, wore a rubber band over his teeth and held his opponent's gloves repeatedly.

Mike Criss, who was in Britt's corner, at no time asked that Britt be given the decision on the foul. He was so confident that the New Bedford favorite could outpoint his rival despite the latter's tactics that he was willing to let the tussle go the distance.

EIGHT ROUNDS ARE BRITT'S.

At the best Brady only had three rounds in his favor. They were the third, eighth and tenth. He held his own in the twelfth. The other eight sessions ended in Britt's favor.

Brady tried hard to get a draw by making a whirlwind finish. Many of his well-meant haymakers, however, merely fanned the ozone. Others encircled Britt's neck or were blocked. To the fans some distance from the ring it looked as though Brady was doing a great deal of execution with his punches, when as a matter of fact Britt was getting inside of most of his rival's swings and scoring with stinging wallops to the body.

Britt had a decided margin in his favor in the first two rounds. His left kept popping like a machine gun and had Brady puzzled. The Syracuse boy showed to better advantage in the third session and grabbed the honors.

LOST RUBBER BAND.

Britt came back strong in the fourth and outpointed his rival. In this stanza, Brady lifted his left knee a couple of times in the clinches. He also lost the rubber band over his teeth when Britt scored with a stiff left jab. Brady, however, picked up the band from the floor and put it back in his mouth.

Britt was out in front in the fifth round. In the sixth chapter, the New Bedford lightweight dazed his rival with a right hand punch to the jaw. He had that round and the eighth by comfortable margins.

Brady did some effective work in the eighth round and scored with a couple of solid right hand blows. It was his round.

ROUGH WORK IN NINTH.

There was a lot of rough fighting in the ninth stanza. In one of the mixups both boxers fell to the canvas. It was Britt's round by a shade.

By some whirlwind milling Brady grabbed the honors in the tenth frame. The eleventh was Britt's round, while it was fifty-fifty in the twelfth.

Tony Vaitin, Brighton featherweight, disposed of K. O. Brennan of East Boston in the semi-final contest of eight rounds. In another tussle billed for eight frames, Frank Tillo of the North End stopped K. O. Joe Leonard of Roxbury in two frames. Buddy Dolan of East Boston bested Arthur Ross of the North End in a six-round preliminary.

Men Win Right to Play for Professional Golf Championship

The qualification round for the New England division of the Professional Golfers' Association tournament, which takes place next month at the Engineers' Club, New York district, was held over the links at the Kernwood Country Club, Salem. Play was at thirty-six holes, and the first three on the list are eligible.

Louis Tellier of Brae-Burn and George Gordon of Wannamoisett, Providence, R. I., tied for first place with a medal score of 149 for their two rounds. Tellier broke the record for the links, held by Francis Ouimet. Ouimet had a 73, while Tellier was one stroke better.

Mike Brady, with 151, finished third and qualified.

MIKE O'DOWD WINS FROM JACKIE CLARKE

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Middleweight Champion Mike O'Dowd outboxed and outfought Jackie Clarke in a ten-round bout here. O'Dowd was the aggressor throughout the bout and made Clarke break ground continually.

JACK "TWIN" DEFEATS SOLDIER JONES ON POINTS

SOX AND BROWNS IN GETAWAY BATTLE

[illegible]

By NICK FLATLEY.

Out in the West where pennant hopes flare high, there's a bit of trepidation just now in American League circles. The Red Sox are about to start a rampage through the far parts. They leave tonight, after winding up with the Browns.

A short time back that little thing would [illegible] of those [illegible]

The Sox were [illegible] soft for the [illegible] but now it's something else [illegible] The champions have found themselves, and have been giving the contenders the meanest sort of a reception hereabouts.

In the stand just coming to a close the five teams that are still in the title scramble have been defeated eleven times at the Fenway while getting away with a half dozen victories. All comers look alike now and if the Boston [illegible]

SURE TO MAKE TROUBLE

[illegible] Red Sox [illegible] started the way they're going they would still be in it with the rest of us."

[illegible] The Sox have got the long end of the series with the Yankees, White Sox and Indians, divided with the Tigers and have a two-one margin on the Browns in this farewell engagement.

The addition of Hoyt and Russell to the sharp shooting department has given the team confidence in its pitchers, and that spirit is reflected in the general work. Ruth, Roth, McInnis and S[illegible] are near or just under the .300 mark, and any squad with four big guns is a danger outfit for the best the game boasts. It looks like [illegible] got that [illegible] delayed [illegible] in this [illegible] truly time.

PENNOCK BAFFLED BROWNS.

As regards the game, the Sox won it, 1 to 0, Herbie Pennock getting the verdict over Allen Sothoron. It was one of those pitcher's battles with hits scarcer than cheap food, and nothing much sensational for the crowd. Herbie held the Brownies to four hits and they never really had a decent chance to score.

The enemy twirler wasn't far behind, though he had several narrow escapes owing to poor support. But the defeat was solely his fault. It came in the seventh, after two were out. Hooper splashed a oneshot past short, and Sothoron ascended. He passed Vitt, Roth and Ruth, and just naturally gave the game away. It was one time that a pass to Ruth didn't injure that slugging individual's feelings.

Up to the ninth just twenty-four Brownies had faced Pennock, who has recovered marvelously from a strained back or something of the sort. Two hostiles made hits, but both were promptly doubled up, the Sox being in a mood of perfect fielding. The slim southpaw let down a bit in the ninth, and St. Louis chopped out a pair of hits, but they might just as well have saved themselves the trouble.

It's too much.

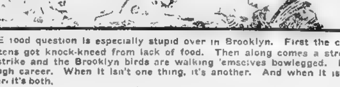
BEFORE investing your smackers in war grub you want to state what brand of the service menu you think will fit your epiglottis. There is the food the marines scoffed. The chow the buddies gulped and also sailor food. You can have your pick of three different menus. The marine food was beans, buddie food was beans and sailor food was beans.



THE food question is especially stupid over in Brooklyn. First the citizens got knock-kneed from lack of food. Then along comes a street car strike and the Brooklyn birds are walking 'emselves bowlegged. It's a tough career. When it isn't one thing, it's another. And when it isn't either, it's both.

BY going after the food yeggs, the government has swatted the Holstein in the monocle. By packing the cold storage hounds away in cold storage the government can make the works as merry as alimony bells. Lock 'em in a concrete jug and tie the key to a rabbit. If they squawk for food let 'em eat their way out.

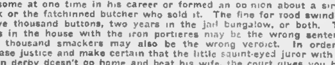
WHEN the trials of the profiteers rattle off, it will be impossible to pick an unbiased jury. Most everybody has either read about food, ate some at one time in his career or formed an opinion about a sirloin steak or the fatchinned butcher who sold it. The fine for food swindling is five thousand buttons, two years in the jail bungalow, or both. Two years in the house with the iron portieres may be the wrong sentence. Five thousand smackers may also be the wrong verdict. In order to appease justice and make certain that the little squint-eyed juror with the brown derby doesn't go home and beat his wife, the court gives you both out of the fullness of his heart and the emptiness of his stomach. Any last message to the folks?



IT is impossible to pipe why the lawmakers wasted words about five thousand berries tax or two seasons in the vat, when OR BOTH covered the subject copiously.

• • •

IT'S time that the courts burned all the Blackstone bunk and got out a new book. When trying the food hawks the judges could turn over the pages while the jury lamped the pretty pictures. They could pass up the five thousand assessment page, rip out the two-year rest cure and turn to the nice curly page where it chirps, OR BOTH.

• • •

NO jury needs a barge load of law books stuffed with double jointed English. One book, one page, one paragraph with two words. OR BOTH.

Benny Valger to beat Charley Parker.

Joe Gibbs to beat Young Quill.

Burt Jones to beat Tootsie Jones.

By RINGSIDE.

Benny Valger, nifty New York [illegible] 10 to 6 favorite [illegible] at Mechanics Building tonight, under the auspices of the Armory A. A.

Valger's dazzling speed and ability to score with a left jab are the factors which his supporters believe will enable him to finish in front.

The little New Yorker has engaged in some of his most important bouts in this city. By his victory over Frankie Britt at the Armory A. A. last spring, he proved he classes with the best men of his weight in the country.

[illegible]

At present Valger is trying to get a bout with Johnny Kilbane, featherweight champion. A Newark promoter offered $15,000 for the contest. Kilbane was to receive $10,000, while Valger was to get $5,000. Joe Jacobs, acting for Valger, accepted the match, but Kilbane refused to affix [illegible] the articles of agreement.

Valger has [illegible] Parker tonight. He says he proved [illegible] Johnny Dundee to the canvas in the first round of their recent bout.

Joe Gibbs of this city and Young Quill of Brockton will go over the jumps in the semi-final bout of eight rounds. Gibbs has made a big hit by his flashy work in local rings. Quill recently met Young Duffy of Everett [illegible]

Burt Jones of Revere and Tootsie O'Toole of South Boston will meet in a six-round contest. There will also be another preliminary, which will be arranged some time today.

[illegible] and Billy Henderson [illegible] forfeit of $[illegible] sporting editor [illegible] total the match [illegible] degrees, which will [illegible] rence on the afternoon of August 23. The weight for the contest is 142 pounds four hours before the men enter the ring.

Scotty Magee, the regular club referee, will be the third man in the ring.

Bob McKirdy has arranged an attractive preliminary card to support Joe Eagan and George Robinson, who will clash in the feature bout of twelve rounds at the Commercial A. C. Friday night. Willie Roberts of the Radio School and Greek Ager of the South End will do the honors in the semi-final tussle of eight rounds. Flash Rogers and Frank Tillio, North End rivals, will box six rounds, while Bobbie O'Brien of Dorchester and George Crouse of the South End will also exchange blows in a six-round event.

A. L. DIRECTORS TO WHITEWASH CARL MAYS

New York, Aug. 12.—A conference of the board of directors of the American League to consider the suspension of Pitcher Carl Mays and the management of the affairs of the office of the president of the American League will take place Thursday following an invitation of Colonel Jacob Ruppert, president of the New York Yankees, Charles Comiskey of the White Sox and Harry H. Frazee of Boston. These three, who constitute a quorum and a majority of the board of directors, will practically impeach Ban Johnson.

Under the constitution of the league [illegible] is composed of the three who issued the call, Jim Dunn of the Cleveland club and Ban Johnson, ex-officio. Dunn, who is friendly to Johnson, has refused to attend the meeting.

MERELY FORMAL.

Ban Johnson's days as the "Czar" of the American League seem numbered. Every year a board of directors was appointed, not to do anything apparently, but just as a matter of form. [illegible] Johnson over the suspension of Mays that they are going to vote over his head and reinstate Mays. They will not stop there. According to the notice of the league they are going to investigate "the management of the affairs of the office of the present incumbent, Byron B. Johnson, [illegible]

BAN IN COURT.

Johnson, who has been [illegible] through his attorneys [illegible] postponement of the hearing of the injunction case of Carl Mays. Johnson was to have appeared in the Supreme Court today to show cause why he should not be restrained [illegible] pitching for the Yankees.

No word has yet [illegible] from Johnson [illegible] from office.

How to Play Baseball

By HUGH S. FULLERTON

[illegible] or on a slow bounding ball which is thrown to first is the difference between a good ball club and a fair one. You will see by studying records that the teams in any league that score most [illegible] on short hits are the first division teams while the tail enders are those who take one base on a hit.

As a general rule runners should attempt to take two bases on every single unless the ball is so sharply hit as to make it impossible even to turn the base before the ball is being returned to the infield. Scoring from second on a single is possible even for fairly slow men in four cases out of five if the runner is playing properly and does not hesitate before starting.

The runner on second really is as well off as he is on third with two out and should score on any hit that does not go direct to an outfielder on the first or second bound.

The runner must, of course, [illegible] from second base [illegible] in every case [illegible] the line as the short stop plays, relying on his third base coacher to warn him in time if the second baseman is coming in to cover the base, and try to draw a throw from the catcher.

If the play is run and hit or hit and run the base runner should be within fifteen feet of third base when the hit is made. If there is no such play he should be half way between second and third [illegible] around the third [illegible]

In other words he must score from third or near it while an outfielder is picking up the ball, leaping into position and making a long throw. The odds are all in his favor against any save exceptionally strong, accurate-throwing outfielders, and the slightest inaccuracy in the throw to the plate gives him a three-to-one chance to score even on [illegible] that go straight to fielders.

The runner at second should study the opposing outfielders and know which are the strong and which the weak throwers. He will know without wasting the time to look, the direction of the hit. Experienced players can tell by the sound of the ball hitting the bat which direction it is going.

The worst fault of runners lies in failure to rely upon the coacher at third. More runners fail to score from second and are thrown out at the plate because in rounding third they turn their heads to see where the ball is going and thus throw themselves out of stride than in any other way.

The duty of the runner is to sprint with all speed for the plate when the [illegible] dered back to the catcher.

As a general rule slide behind the plate with the body thrown far outside the diamond on throws from right field, slide straight into the catcher feet first on throws from left, and slide in front of the catcher on throws from center or relayed from second or short.

However, no general rule will apply to all cases, and the runner must judge from the position of [illegible] the catcher the only play is a direct slide.

Try to slide the catcher with you across the rubber and slide hard and feet first. It will cure many catchers of [illegible] habit of trying to stop runners by sheer [illegible] approaching [illegible] catcher to take his eye off the ball to see where the runner is, and if he does the chances of his muffing the ball are much increased.

ROPER TELLS HOW HE BEAT JOHNSON

By ED SMITH.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—"If Jack Johnson hasn't ruined it completely, the City of Mexico can be made one of the greatest boxing centres in the world today." This was the statement [illegible] Captain Bob Roper, [illegible] of the U. S. army upon his return from Mexico, where he went for a battle with Johnson. It may surprise a lot of folks hereabouts to learn that Roper received the referee's decision over the former champion [illegible] contest that [illegible] in the Mexican capital.

Cap'n Bob didn't make a financial success with his expedition because of the fact that Johnson's actions previous to the battle brought about an attachment suit and Roper received but $15[illegible] for his work. The entire gate of something like $12,000 was tied up and still is, as far as Bob knows.

"Johnson was extremely popular when he first landed in Mexico City and could have built up a strong fig[illegible]" Roper said. "But he g[illegible] After [illegible] from [illegible] for the [illegible] and that [illegible] Jack's [illegible] He isn't [illegible] diamonds [illegible] doesn't appear to have anything else much. He told me himself he was broke but that he expected to get enough out of the fight to get back to Spain, which country he likes very much.

"We boxed in the bull ring and the [illegible] to from $1 to $15 in American money. The bull ring is a tremendous place, seating over 60,000. The gate receipts on this occasion were around $12,000. Just what Johnson's arrangements with the promoter were I do not know, but he was to have received a heavy cut of the money."

FRENCH MONEY BUYS LESS IN U. S.

The depreciation in francs has been a recent feature of foreign exchange and is due to the large amount of money owed by France to the United States government and to the enormous increase in the indebtedness in general of the French to Americans.

When franc exchange reached its recent low of 7.85 it meant that in purchasing in this country the franc was worth but 12.8 cents, whereas its normal valuation is 19.3. This depreciation of almost 33 per cent may be better understood when it is stated that if a million francs were spent for buying American commodities or products it would only represent a buying power of $128,000, while if franc exchange was normal 1,000,000 francs would buy goods in this market valued at $193,000.

The French have not bought in this country to the extent expected when hostilities with Germany ceased. One reason is the diminishing purchasing power of the franc. Within ten years in commerce with this country there has been a trade balance in favor of France. For instance, in 1918 our exports to that country totalled $117,627,466, while our imports from it amounted to $132,362,346. The balance in favor of France for the year was $14,735,880.

AMERICAN WOOLEN HOME BUILDING FOR HELP

The American Woolen Company is planning to cut down living costs for employes by helping them to be their own landlords and eventually stop paying rent. The company will build individual houses in towns where living quarters are needed, and if the employes will deposit 5 per cent of the construction and other costs the Homestead Association, Inc., formed by the company, will carry the balance on mortgage at 4½ per cent interest rate.

The rent paid by the owner and occupant will be normal in amount and apply against carrying charges and the mortgage principal. If he leaves the employ of the company he must find a new mortgagee or the association will foreclose. The house will have four, five or six rooms, electric lights, plumbing, stoves, and perhaps enough land to enable the owner to have a little garden.

Fidelity Steamship Fleet

The Fidelity Steamship Company, a $2,000,000 Boston corporation, intends to have a fleet of six or eight oil burning vessels engaged in foreign trade. It is negotiating with the government to buy a new 7,500-ton boat built on Staten Island. The company's officers are Boston men, comprising Captain Arthur I. Crowley, president and general manager, and A. L. Stark, vice-president.

Captain Crowley is vice-president of the Coastwise Transportation Company and for two years was Eastern Division manager for the U. S. Shipping Board. Mr. Stark is vice-president of the Fidelity Trust Company.

Butte and Superior's Output

July zinc production for July totalled 7,800,000 tons compared with 11,500,000 in the like 1918 month. Silver production was 150,000 ounces against 230,000.

Money will be loaned to the employees of the American Woolen Company at 4½% for the purchase of these houses.

A first payment of at least 5% of the selling price will be made at the time of sale. The subsequent payments will be made monthly, of an amount equal to rent for that type of house.

A part of the monthly payment will cover INTEREST CHARGES, TAXES, AND INSURANCE, and the remainder will go towards reducing the mortgage.

By this plan, the owner will pay off the mortgage, by only paying the equal of "RENT MONEY."

The Homestead Association, Inc., will also take MORTGAGES at 4½% on quarterly balance on individual homes to be purchased by the employees of the American Woolen Company up to 75% of their real estate value, providing the owner will pay off the mortgage on the following monthly instalment plan:

Amount of Loan.	Pay Off Principal Per Mo.	Total Payment Per Mo.
$1000	$6.50	$6.50 to $10.00
$1001— 2000	7.50	11.00 to 15.00
2001— 3000	8.50	16.00 to 19.50
3001— 4000	9.50	20.50 to 24.50
4001— 5000	11.50	26.50 to 30.00

The Homestead Association, Inc., will accept only new mortgages. In no event will the transfer of an existing mortgage to the Homestead Association, Inc., be permitted.

BUILDING LOANS will also be extended on the above mortgage basis, to the employees of the American Woolen Company who wish to build single houses, according to their own plans.

ELIGIBILITY—Any person in the employ of the American Woolen Company on June 16, 1919, or any employee insured by the Group Life Insurance policy of the American Woolen Company will be entitled to these privileges.

The Homestead Association, Inc., will lend money only on single houses, in which the receiver of the loan shall live.

Wm. M. Wood, President.

PRICE CHANGES NARROW AS A RULE

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, after being lower from the opening. The market was strongest around 11 o'clock, but no better than irregular at its best. Price changes ruled narrow, however. Trading was of far less volume than usual. First hour transactions totaled around 220,000 shares. The morning call rate was 6 per cent.

Among weakest issues at 12 o'clock were Sumatra, Baldwin, Canadian Pacific, Southern Pacific, Corn Products, Mexican Petroleum, New York Dock, National Lead, Pan American, Texas Co., Industrial Alcohol and U. S. Rubber. They had declined from one to two points.

Strong stocks included American Locomotive, Baldwin, General Cigar Stores, Goodrich, Reading and N. Y. Royal Dutch. They had advanced from fractions to more than a point.

The market was devoid of sensational features during the forenoon. In fact, it was tame, and almost listless as times. Steels were a weak group, while several equipments showed strength.

U. S. Steel was off ⅝ at 103⅛ at noon. Its range had been from 102⅞ to 103⅝.

MARKET WEAK AT OPENING.

Demand for stocks had diminished, it was found at the opening. Public buying was negligible and there was not much support from the professional element. Prices receded under moderate offerings. Steels were weak and so were leathers, while oils, rails, motors and coppers were irregular. The price range was narrower than usual and many issues were unchanged. Among those to sustain the largest losses on first transactions were American International, Baldwin, Kelly Springfield, Mexican Petroleum, Pittsburgh Coal and U. S. Rubber. They receded from one to a little more than two points. Continental Can was strong, advancing more than a point. Most changes, whether up or down, were fractional. Trading was comparatively dull at the outset and throughout the first hour.

TRADERS WATCHING WASHINGTON.

Traders are watching Washington with great interest and some anxiety. They are wondering what effect legislation to check profiteering will have on corporation earnings, and what power will be assumed by the government in regard to transportation agencies and the country's industries. Changes are believed inevitable—they may be sweeping. It is not long since financial districts were imbued with confidence, to a degree which some conservative minds thought quite as remarkable as feverish speculation on the part of the public. Even then surface bubbles were indicating social ferment. Financial districts are now in a bearish mood. The labor situation is causing more worry than is being expressed. Bankers apparently have made little headway in preparing a path upon which foreign exchange can creep back to normal. Hope of Washington aid is waning. Domestic trouble is monopolizing its attention.

At the beginning of the week the copper market remained very quiet, but large selling interests maintained prices firmly. Quotations were 23½ cents a pound for August and 23½ to 24 cents for September. In the market in London spot copper declined £1 and future £3 a ton. This is a reflection of decreased demand for metal in this country.

While a little metal is being sold here at present, the tonnage disposed of is small compared with June and July requirements.

BOSTON COMPANY TO FINANCE CAR SALES

The National Acceptance Company is a Boston corporation with a Massachusetts charter and organized with a cash capital of $5,000,000 to finance the sale of motor cars through the use of trade acceptances. It will act as a financing link between banks in all sections and the makers of standard cars.

Edward Colton Boyce will be president of the new corporation, Charles H. Keith secretary and Bodman Schaff treasurer, while the directors will include Louis K. Liggett, president of the United Drug Company; W. Cameron Forbes, former Governor-General of the Philippines; President Percival S. Hill of the American Tobacco Company, and Eugene W. Lewis, who is identified with the Timken-Detroit Axle Company and with banking in Detroit.

"Arcadian Consolidated"

It is reported from Michigan that the New Arcadian and New Baltic mining corporations will be consolidated under the name of the Arcadian Consolidated Company.

THE PULLMAN COMPANY
Dividend No. 210

A quarterly dividend of two dollars per share will be paid August 15th, 1919, to stockholders of record at close of business July 31st, 1919.

J. F. KANE, Secretary.
Chicago, July 21, 1919.

SWIFT AND CO. STRONG IN BOSTON

Irregularity marked price changes in Boston when the market opened, but later in the morning advances were the rule and the tone had become firmer.

Swift & Co. was strong and active, selling as high as 133, up six points before noon. United Drug common advanced six on one sale. Helvetia was a prominent issue, selling as high as seven. This was more than two points advance. Utah Metals was another feature, being active and advancing. There was more demand for Davis Daly, which achieved a fractional gain. East Butte was active, but remained nearly stationary in price.

Among strong stocks were Fairbanks, North Butte, Mohawk, Pond Creek, Stewart, U. S. Smelting, Boston Elevated and Swift International. Fairbanks was the only one to ascend as much as a point. Quincy was a weak copper.

American Telephone declined nearly three points during the morning, but made a partial recovery before noon. Cuban Portland Cement common receded two points.

Morning trading was quiet and without much breadth.

Cotton Market Opens Firm

New York, Aug. 12—Owing to heavy rains in the South Atlantic States and firm cables, the cotton market opened quite firm at an advance of 16 to 28 points. At the end of 15 minutes, the list was heavy at a net decline of from 1 to 7 points.

Opening prices were: September, 30.00 bid; October, 31.60; December, 31.90; January, 31.74; March, 31.68; May, 31.70.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Aug. 12—The sub-treasury gained $750,000 from the banks on Monday, making the cash net gain since Friday $1,182,000.

CUBAN SUGAR CROP LESS THAN 4,000,000 TONS

According to latest reports Cuban sugar production for this season will not quite total 4,000,000 tons, the amount hoped for a few months ago. The probable output is estimated at present at 3,900,000 tons. There are but six centrals now grinding in Cuba.

Exports of refined sugar from the United States in June approximated 128,120 tons, which is a high record. Exports for the first seven months of 1919 are believed to total about 425,688 tons.

Advance of Kerosene Price

Kerosene prices have advanced from 8 cents a gallon in 1914 to 15 cents in the New York district and the chief reason is increased exports. April exports totalled 92,181,974 gallons, compared with 42,000,000 gallons in the corresponding 1918 month.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN

AUGUST 12, 1919. BOSTON.

League of Nations Is a Most War-Provoking Document As It Stands Today

In his latest message President Wilson told Congress and the country that "a new day had dawned;" that the world was about to be at peace (with fifteen wars now in progress and rumors of five more wars); that the League of Nations would guarantee justice and equality of commercial opportunity among the nations, the denial of which has been the fruitful cause of war; that the victorious allies were not looking for spoils and that the colonies which they took from the enemy were not to be annexed, but were to be held in trust for the world by the allied nation to which each colony was assigned, not as owner, but as "mandatory"; and that the mandatory was bound under the League of Nations not to use the colonies as colonies are usually used for the exploitation for the benefit of the conqueror, but for the benefit of all the world, every nation having an equal right to do business under the same conditions and no nation, including the mandatory, having any special privilege in these colonies.

Of course, all these pretences had to be made in order to make the people believe that the Treaty of Peace was not exactly such a treaty as the Germans would have imposed and in order to make the people believe that they did not fight for the same objects for which the German junkers fought. In short, these statements concerning the state of the world and the intentions of the allies in the treatment of the spoils which they were unwilling to call spoils had to be made in order that the people of the allied countries might not consider that they had been deceived in the objects for which they were fighting and might not come to believe that their cause was really no more just than the cause of Germany, except that they added hypocrisy to their secret imperialistic designs while Germany bluntly and openly confessed her imperialism.

Opportunities for revealing the cloven hoof concealed by the pretences of the proposed League of Nations are not very great because the League of Nations has not yet been adopted and because there has not been enough time in which the ruling classes in Great Britain, France and the United States can show their insincerity. But so far as there has beeen an opportunity for the allies to act under this new millennium of pretended virtue they have shown one hundred per cent. of hypocrisy, falsehood and cold-blooded imperialism. Even before the League of Nations is ratified it is repudiated by the ruling class of its three principal signatories in the negotiation of a military treaty of offence and defence between France, Great Britain and the United States, and the United States is the only nation which gets nothing out of this treaty. Senator Borah aptly characterizes this treaty as "the premature obituary of the League of Nations as a League of Peace."

Of course, if the League of Nations is to guarantee peace, we do not need any offensive and defensive alliance with France and Great Britain. If it does not guarantee peace then it is a piece of hypocrisy and has some other purpose which is not revealed to the American people and which, therefore, must be something which it is considered the American people would not approve since it is so carefully concealed by the raising of a false purpose.

Now, the next great object of the League of Nations as an alleged promoter of peace is to prevent those attempts at the stealing of commercial privileges by force by one nation against another. This has been the cause, directly or indirectly, of nearly every war that has been fought since the beginning of time. Before the League of Nations has a legal being and before Great Britain has the legal mandatory of her share of the colonies and, of course, they have the lion's share, given to her by the treaty she proceeds to erect a tariff barrier giving herself and her commercial interests a preference against that of the rest of the world, including the United States. Here is what the great British journal, "The Nations," says about that piece of iniquity:

> But its (preferential duties) worst feature is the bad faith displayed to our pledge under the covenant, before the ink has barely dried on that document. Article 22 of the treaty engages all mandatories to secure within their territory "equal opportunities for the trade and commerce of other members of the league." Our first act is to put our own "mandated" colonies under the special advantages of the preferential tariff, thus diverting their trade from our allies, and making for them specially favored markets. Really, is any honesty left in governments?

The American makes the prediction that as time goes on if the United States has not Americanism enough to repudiate this league as now drafted, we shall see a regular succession of barefaced, brazen, unblushing violations both of the spirit and terms of the league by Great Britain, and we shall see that league by these violations and by the monstrous hypocrisies concealed and unconcealed in it provoke another war.

The man who supports this league because he believes it is a step in the direction of peace, even a feeble, halting short step, is a man who either does not know the condition of Europe and does not know the terms of the treaty and of the league, or who is absolutely blinded by a sentiment which excludes his reasoning power. This League of Nations, arising out of and guaranteeing as it does the settlements of the treaty, is the most war-provoking document that was ever conceived by the mind of man. It almost certainly decrees another war.

DON'T THINK OF DIFFICULTIES, BUT HOW TO SURMOUNT THEM

If you want to become of real value about the place where you are employed, you must be the man who thinks of some way to overcome difficulties and figures to cut the cost of production effectively.

Have you not noticed that it is the resourceful man who advances?

If you give up when conditions out of the ordinary—puzzling conditions—are encountered, you are going to continue to be a toiler in the ranks.

Why be the one to say, "Now we are stuck, what are we going to do?"

Rather be the one who decides, and says, "We can do it this way."

You know that many a time when you have been ready to give up another has provided a way out which you wondered that you had not thought of yourself.

Your trouble was in thinking hard about the unsurmountable difficulties—as it looked to you.

How long must you keep on having this sort of experience?

Be a thinker, not a plodder.

THE PLUNDERER'S PROGRESS

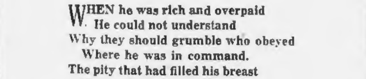
By S. E. KISER

WHEN he was poor and underpaid
  His sympathies were strong
For those who wielded pick and spade
  And found their labors long.
He pitied weary mothers who,
  Oppressed by daily cares,
Were paying steady tribute to
  Unholy millionaires.

WHEN he was poor it made him sad
  To see a hungry child;
A rich man's daughter, richly clad,
  Then drove him nearly wild.
He could not understand why men
  Submitted and were meek;
His heart was filled with anger then
  For those who wronged the weak.

BUT Luck selected him one day
  For favors that were fair;
He found a smooth and easy way
  That led him far from care.
No longer driven, he began
  Himself to use the goad,
And when he cracked it many a man
  Fell bleeding in the road.

WHEN he was rich and overpaid
  He could not understand
Why they should grumble who obeyed
  Where he was in command.
The pity that had filled his breast
  Was crowded out by schemes
For crushing people whose unrest
  Sometimes disturbed his dreams.



PLENTY OF IT IN EVIDENCE

It is said that the supply of ivory is rapidly being exhausted, but the report must be untrue. Somebody always seems to be standing in the doorway of every public conveyance.

A CONVINCING DEMONSTRATION

When a bald-headed widower who is crippled with lumbago runs after a young girl, mind immediately asserts its supremacy over matter.

NOT HER ONLY PURPOSE

Whenever we see a beautiful girl who wears socks, she seems to try to let us understand that she isn't wearing them for comfort alone.

A VERY nice lady.

"AND AS I stood.

SHE SAID to her class.

THIS DENVER boy.

AND TOLD his folks.

THAT THE teacher said.

SHE'D BEEN in the battle.

OF BUNKER Hill.

AND HIS father proved.

THAT IT couldn't be true.

HE WOULD never believe

THAT HE'S all grown up

THIS BOY came home.

FROM A Summer school.

AND TOLD his dad.

A MOST wonderful tale.

OF A teacher he had.

WHO COULD close his eyes.

AND WITH them shut.

HE COULD look across.

AND SEE "our boys."

IN THE Argonne woods.

SO THIS small boy said.

THAT THEY happened to be.

HE HAD tried it himself.

"EXCEPT IT was dark."

WHAT THE teacher meant.

BUT THE boy's so small.

HE CAN'T understand.

GIRLS MUST MAKE MINDS MASTER OF ENERGY

By Mrs. Wilson Woodrow

I WAS with a woman the other day who had been given the opportunity of suggesting some one for a very desirable and remunerative position. She was really anxious to do so, and as she ran over a list of her friends and acquaintances to decide their eligibility this is the way she checked them off:

"I would like Mary X. to have that place. She really needs it badly, but how can I advise it? You never can depend on her. She would be all right for two or three weeks, and then her enthusiasm would ooze out and she would get tired and lazy and lie down on the job.

"Then there's Bessie Y. But she is so high-strung that she keeps every one about her on a nervous strain. She would have the whole establishment by the ears.

"Julia Z. might do. She will work hard, but she's so unsystematic that everything would be at sixes and sevens. They would never put up with her disorderly methods, and if any one says a word to her she bursts into tears."

So she went through the whole list. Perhaps she was unnecessarily particular; but if the person she recommended proved unsatisfactory she would get the blame, and she did not care to take any risks. Consequently, she did not put forward a candidate.

Were Judging Selves

These women on her list had no idea that they were being weighed in the balance and found wanting. If they had they would have been very much chagrined and would probably never have forgiven her. But, after all, it was not she alone who was judging them; they were in a sense condemning themselves.

They were all anxious to skim the cream from life's milk-crocks, but they were either too vain to recognize their faults or they wouldn't take the bother to discipline themselves. And, although they might not be aware of it, Life was doing it for them, for Life is a very thorough disciplinarian.

Many girls write to me to this effect: "I don't like my job. It has no future in it, and I am dead tired of it. The only reason I stay is because I need the money."

If we didn't all need the money those of us born in tropical climates would probably still be sitting comfortably in our skins and eating cocoanuts and bananas, and those of us in northern latitudes would be getting ourselves into bears' skins, after pushing the bears out of their coats, and sitting down to a nice meal of raw fish and whale's blubber.

It is not idealism that drives us to toil; it is the stern need for food, shelter, clothing and a little jam on our bread and butter.

But what in the last analysis is our job? It is ourselves. We have created it by thinking and saying, "I can do this, and I cannot do that."

Practical Statement

"According to your faith be it unto you," is not some mystical affirmation relating only to things of the spirit. It is one of the most practical statements ever made.

Look it over carefully, burnish it up, clean it, oil it, and see if it won't run better. See if it can't be improved; and in trying to do something for it you will be doing something for yourself. There is sure to be someone, quite unsuspected by you, who is watching your efforts and noting your improvement. And who may, either now or in the future, be able to say a good word for you or to offer you another stepping-stone.

HOW SUN SPOTS TOUCH OFF VOLCANOES

Like touching off a bomb some millions of times bigger than any man could contrive is the act of Nature in touching off some of the fearful life-destroying volcanoes. How this is done—how the recent disastrous eruptions in Java, Japan and Central America are traced by science to the bombardment of earth by magnetic storms from solar cyclones, is interestingly told in the next

How to Be Safe
Germany Broken, Perhaps
Minding Your Business
Delusions Are Comfortable

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1919.)

Today the Prince of Wales lands on this continent, not traveling incognito, as did his grandfather, Edward, but coming to visit the President of the United States at the White House. This young man's traveling methods show how to eliminate danger. A warship travels ahead of his battleship, the Renown, looking for icebergs and other dangers. If the leading ship ran into an iceberg it would wireless back, presumably, "Back up, we are sinking."

When the King or Queen travels by rail, a dignified director of the railroad travels ahead in a locomotive. If there is a weak bridge or broken rail the director finds it. Therefore, there is not any weak bridge.

When the King travels by motor another automobile, fully equipped, goes along. In case of a blowout the King steps into the other motor and goes on. His time is very precious.

Being royal has its advantages while it lasts.

English writers say that Germany is "broken" in industry, finance and spirit. The rate of exchange tells the financial story. You can buy twenty five dollars' worth of German marks for six dollars and sixty cents' worth of Swiss francs. However, this does not mean everything. There was a day when you could buy the money and the bonds of our Northern States at a great discount. And wise Englishmen hastened to buy Confederate money and bonds. They were sure that the North was broken and must be beaten, largely because England hoped that it would be. They still have the Confederate money and every once in a while suggest plaintively that the United States ought to take it up at par.

Mr. Taft is against government ownership of railroads on the plan suggested by workers through their representative, Plumb. He says "We should not let the Soviet system gain even a toe hold in America." Mr. Taft, earnest, honest, sincere, should know that calling American workmen Bolsheviks because they venture to suggest a workable, honest system of government ownership is not the way to keep the Soviet from getting its toe hold.

One trouble with Russia was too much power and dishonesty in a few hands. Another trouble was that any suggestion for improvement was always denounced as anarchistic, irreligious and disloyal. If the Czar and his grand dukes had to do it over, they would receive new ideas more kindly. Mr. Taft advocates a league of nations that would put the United States treasury and the young men of the United States at the disposition of foreign countries, including countries openly governed by the Socialism that he so much dreads over here.

Americans willing to do so much for everybody outside of America are horrified when it is suggested that something should be done for millions of workmen inside of America. Why?

Our blessed American democracy does queer things when it breaks loose and becomes an international hero and benefactor. We use our influence and army to make Kolchak ruler of Russia. His success means another Russian autocracy, another collection of thieving grand dukes. But he won't succeed. No hand picked ruler can't solve that Russian problem. Russia herself, not the United States, will select the man.

In Hungary this country and the Allies are proud of themselves for having "restored order" in Budapest, making one of the Archdukes the leading figure.

The reactionaries celebrate the happy occasion, as the Associated Press shows, by beating Jews in the streets with dog whips, the Roumanian troops, agent of the Allies, as the Associated Press says "looking on laughingly and inciting the Hungarians to further attacks on the Jews."

Uncle Sam in a moment of leisure ought to read about the man that got rich by minding his own business.

Here are two quotations. "We are such things as dreams are made of" and "their is nothing either good or bad but thinking makes it so."

Take, for instance, Ralph Blakelock, who died two days ago, miserably. He had spent eighteen years in the insane asylum perfectly blissful because he believed himself to be the richest man in the world. Only recently he sent to a friend eleven million dollars on paper. "Friends" got him out, almost cured him and after hard work, made him understand that he had not a dollar, and that he depended on the charity of his friends, while beautiful pictures that he had painted and sold for nothing were sold by dealers for tens of thousands. Having had the matter carefully explained to him, Blakelock died.

If a man has an idea that gives him real comfort be careful about taking it from him, you may not be doing him a favor. Ingersoll and others have failed to understand that.
